Resolution Sent To Eisenhower

House Accepts
Senate Version
By 350-60 Vote

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The House wrapped up President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution in a 350-60 roll-call vote of approval today and sent it to the White House.

The House action was swift, short-cutting usual procedures. The vote was on whether to agree to the Senate version of this resolution, which warns the Communists against aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower had already called the Senate language agreeable to him, and he said today "I was definitely pleased" at the 72-19 vote of approval recorded by the Senate Tuesday night.

The Senate version, which is now that of the whole Congress, says that if the President considers it necessary, "the United States is prepared" to use armed forces to protect any Middle Eastern nations requesting assistance against overt Communist aggression.

Senate Demos Urged Change

The House version, approved 355-61 on Jan. 30, would have "authorized" the President to use troops if the need arose.

Some in the Senate had contended that the President already had the authority, as commander in chief. At Democratic urging, the Senate made the change in the resolution accordingly.

Eisenhower, at his news conference today, refused to be drawn into a discussion of whether he already had the authority, saying Congress "approves of what we are trying to do in this area, and that is the important thing."

"We have had this Middle East situation on our hands for a long time; and while it has gone through certain stages and the outlook is brighter, there are still many details daily that come up," he added.

Warning To Moscow

The situation has been disturbed by Israeli-Arab conflict, by Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal, by the Anglo-French invasion of the Suez area, and general ferment. A commonly expressed fear has been that Russia would move in dangerously; the resolution is designed to tell Moscow to keep hands off.

In addition to setting up the warning, the resolution grants Eisenhower leeway in spending 200 million dollars in military and economic aid in the Middle East region between now and July 1.

Caesar To Lose Third TV Wife

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Comedian Sid Caesar is losing his third wife—television wife, that is.

Janet Blair said today she's leaving the Saturday night "Caesar's Hour" at the end of May. Her husband, Producer Nick Mayo, said she asked for a release from her three-year contract because she felt the show didn't utilize her full acting talents.

Miss Blair succeeded Nanette Fabray, who quit the Caesar show a year ago. Caesar's original television partner was Imogene Coca. They split amicably in 1954 so she could branch out on her own.

Bombers Return To U.S. From Far East Mission

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., March 7 (AP)—A flight of 25 B36s—the 10-engine, eight-million-dollar bomber which can pack a nuclear bomb 10,000 miles nonstop—began arriving back today from a secrecy-shrouded training mission in the Far East.

Egypt Ready To Let Canal Be Reopened

Cairo's Permission
For Final Clearance
Is Expected Today

CAIRO, March 7 (AP)—The Egyptian Middle East News Agency said tonight Egypt will give a go-ahead by tomorrow for final clearance of the Suez Canal.

The last major obstruction is the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet.

The announcement said Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler (U.S.A.-Ret.) will be given permission to clear it after long delays.

The canal has been blocked by sunken obstacles since the British-French invasion of Egypt last fall.

The final phase of canal clearance also includes raising the sunken frigate Abukir, four miles north of the southern end. The Edgar Bonnet is on the canal bed near Ismailia, midway on the 103-mile waterway.

The canal had been choked since early last November by about 50 scuttled ships and parts of blown-up bridges.

Egypt had stalled the final phase of clearance until the Israelis withdrew—at the insistence of the United Nations—from Sinai and Gaza positions they seized in their invasion last October-November.

Wheeler has estimated the U.N. salvage fleet will need three weeks to dispose of the 841-ton Edgar Bonnet and the 1,460-ton Abukir. If they are thus removed by March 29, ships up to 10,000 tons then could transit the canal while the last phases of tidying up go ahead.

Canal Open To Small Ships

PORT SAID, March 7 (AP)—Egypt's Suez Canal Authority said today vessels up to 500 tons can pass through the canal in daylight hours starting tomorrow.

The tonnage limit restricts passage to vessels no longer than harbor and coastwise craft and still excludes seagoing tankers. Even some seagoing tugs are much larger than 500 tons.

De Valera, 74, Regains Control Of Parliament

DUBLIN, Ireland, March 7 (AP)—Eamon de Valera regained control of Parliament tonight in a smashing political comeback for the 74-year-old New York-born Irish patriot.

He will become prime minister for a third time amidst simmering of a new armed revolt against British rule in Northern Ireland and in a time of economic stress.

The newly chosen Parliament will meet March 20 for the formal election of De Valera as prime minister—a post in which he has served for a total of 18 years. He has been on the sidelines as opposition leader for the last three years.

With all the results in, De Valera's Fianna Fail—Men of Destiny—party had won 78 of the 147 seats in the Dail—Parliament. This gave him an absolute majority of nine even if the Sinn Feiners showed unexpectedly take their four seats. The standing of the other parties was: former Prime Minister John A. Costello's Fine Gael 40, Labor 12, Independent 9, Clann na Talmhan—Farmers 3, Clann na Poblachta—Republicans 1.

Earlier in the day, other B36s passed over the San Francisco Bay area on a 9,000-mile nonstop flight from Okinawa to their home base at Roswell, N.M.

The only thing Walker AFB officials at Roswell would say was that its planes "have recently participated in a routine Strategic Air Command training mission and are in the process of returning to Walker."

The first B36 to touch down here was commanded by Col. Charles B. Crews, 35, of Little River, Tex. He said the return flight from the Orient on favorable winds took 21 hours, compared with 31 hours and 45 minutes on the outward flight against unfavorable winds.

Each flight, he said, was made without refueling aloft.

Earlier this week, an Air Force spokesman in Tokyo said several of the planes had been over Yokota air base near Tokyo and at least one had landed there.

Col. Crews' B36 paced a group of 17 of the intercontinental bombers arriving at 15-minute intervals. Eight more were due late tonight.

Ailing Ike To Stay In D.C.

Signals For
Slowdown
In Spending

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Harassed by an inflamed ear, cold and cough, President Eisenhower said today he is remaining in Washington to cope with the Middle East problem.

Eisenhower also told a news conference he thinks government spending can be slowed down to ease the pressure that keeps pushing living costs upward. He said he is investigating this possibility through the Cabinet and other responsible officials.

"With this cost of living continuing to rise," he said, "it is necessary we all watch our spending to the utmost degree."

As with Alice in Wonderland's walrus, it was a time to talk of many things, including ships and kings—and foreign policy, drinking water and turning the White House into a museum.

But it was Eisenhower's health that sounded the opening note of the news conference and recurred all the way through it.

The President has had a persistent cough since spending several hours outdoors on Inauguration Day Jan. 21.

Then he showed up today with a cold, a husky, stuffy voice, and a wad of medicated cotton in his left ear. He coughed several times during the conference. And several times he had to ask his questioners to speak more loudly.

Eisenhower had opened up with a request that "each of you will speak very distinctly because I am having a little temporary difficulty with my hearing."

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty reported later that the chief executive developed "a slight inflammation of the eustachian tube" yesterday and has been under treatment by the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder.

Eisenhower has been thinking of going to the drier, warmer climate of Arizona to combat his cough. The first news conference question was a request to "tell us how your cough is and when do you plan to leave?"

Nixon And Dulles Absent

While "the outlook is brighter" in the Middle East, the President replied, details come up daily. And, he said, it is awkward to leave at this minute because Vice President Nixon is on a good-will mission in Africa and Secretary of State Dulles is en route to a SEATO conference in Australia.

As for his ear trouble, the President said, "It feels like a cold in the head; that is all."

Lady Cop Plays Role Of Victim, Traps Con Man

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 7 (AP)—Police said James M. Tidwell, 36, needed money and he thought he had a scheme for getting it. He would sell Nashville women phony information about their husbands.

But he was arrested yesterday when he took $100 from a woman he supposed was one of his victims but turned out to be Policewoman Edna Lyle.

Tidwell was charged with extortion and grand larceny. Investigators said Tidwell would telephone women and offer to sell them fabricated information about their husbands. When Mrs. T. Fred Dunham notified police of a call from Tidwell, a trap was set.

Mrs. Lyle was substituted for Mrs. Dunham and the policeman gave Tidwell a marked $100 bill for trumped-up information about Dunham.

Ship Collision Sinks Tanker; 10 Feared Dead

NEW CASTLE, Del., March 7 (AP)—A freighter and a Navy-owned tanker slammed together early today at the "Graveyard" bend of the Delaware River, setting off an explosion that ripped a 100-foot hole in the fuel carrier.

Ten men on the tanker were missing and feared dead.

Thirty-five others were rescued as were all 23 aboard the S. S. Elna II. Fifteen of the rescued—some pulled from the flaming oil slick—required hospital treatment. Others were ministered to by rescuers. None were reported in serious condition.

Tanker Sent To Bottom

The impact of the explosion, felt 30 miles away, sent the tanker Mission San Francisco to the bottom in shallow water. Its bow and stern superstructures, which burned fiercely for more than 16 hours, protruded from the water. The Elna was able to back off but drifted out of control for several hours before it ran aground, the bow burned and damaged.

Neither ship was carrying cargo.

The river is about two miles wide where the collision occurred at the "Graveyard of the Ships" bend off Pea Patch Island, but the navigable channel is 100-150 yards across.

Elna Captain Blames Tanker

The bend got its name from the numerous maritime accidents that have occurred there.

Capt. Alexander Kaare of the Elna said, "We rammed into the starboard—right—bow of the tanker at about 12:25 a.m. I don't know what happened immediately after that because I was knocked unconscious."

Kaare, of Toronto, said the collision was the fault of the tanker. The freighter's pilot, Henry Rice of New Milford, Del., agreed.

Mayor Calls Bribe Charge "Fantastic"

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Mayor Terry D. Schruck of Portland, Ore., today described as "fantastic" testimony before the Senate rackets group that he had taken a $500 bribe from the operator of a gambling club.

"I am astounded and amazed at a committee of the United States Senate being used—without the knowledge of you gentlemen—for a political purpose such as this," Schruck told the committee.

Schruck, a Democrat, was sheriff of Multnomah County, which includes Portland, at the time of a raid in September 1955 on the club.

Two Portland police officers had testified earlier they saw what appeared to be the transfer of a package or manila envelope to Schruck from the operator of the raided gambling club.

Called to the stand as the committee launched its afternoon session, Schruck asked and received permission to make a statement, and then lit into the testimony about him as "fantastic."

He asked for permission to present in his own behalf two affidavits from Clifford (Jimmy) Bennett, operator of the night club-gambling house who is alleged to have given him the money.

The committee had voted to press contempt of Congress charges against Bennett for refusing to answer questions about the matter this morning and Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) barred the affidavits.

McClellan said no witness who refuses to submit to questioning should be allowed to "testify by affidavit."

Schruck's statement that he was "astounded and amazed" by the committee's actions drew a demand from McClellan to know whether "you want to lecture the committee."

Schruck said he didn't, and added that "I feel that Mr. Bennett has been intimidated before this committee—not by the committee."

He said Bennett told him yesterday of being "threatened by Mr. Wally Turner," a reporter for the Portland Oregonian.

James B. (Big Jim) Elkins, former kingpin gambler in Portland, had testified that Bennett told him of paying $500 to Schruck to call off the raid in question.

After Bennett refused to answer questions, the two policemen and another man told the committee they saw what appeared to be the transfer of a package between Bennett and Schruck.

Mother Burns Tots With Knife

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 7 (AP)—Police tonight are holding a 29-year-old Columbus mother who they said admitted burning two of her sons, 5 and 2, with a "red hot" butcher knife after she "caught them playing with fire."

Held on charges of child abuse is Mrs. Mary A. Cunningham, who told police she inflicted the burns on the boys yesterday when she caught them playing with fire in the kitchen.

The eldest son, Michael, 5, was severely burned three or four times on the nape of the neck and on the back of the hands, police said. The other son, Richard, 2, was burned less seriously on the fingers, officers said.

Mrs. Cunningham told police she burned her sons because "that's the way I was treated when I did something bad when I was little."

Michael and Richard, and another son, Andrew, 1, are being cared for in suburban Franklin Village while Mrs. Cunningham is in custody.

Gaza Strip Evacuation Completed

Egyptian Military
Works At Mouth
Of Gulf Blown Up

TEL AVIV, Israel, March 7 (AP)—Israeli troops blew up Egyptian military works at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba today in preparation for withdrawal tomorrow. Other Israeli forces completed their exit from the Gaza Strip and handed United Nations forces the burden of administering that hotly disputed area.

The company-strength unit at Sharm el Sheikh was expected to take only a few hours to vacate and U.N. troops stood by ready to fill the vacuum. Demolition teams wrecked concrete pillboxes, a munitions depot and two 6-inch gun positions which formerly closed the Gulf to Israeli ships.

The Israelis did not want the Egyptians to find the fortifications intact in case U.N. occupation proves to be only temporary. Similar destruction of roads and installations was carried out by the Israelis in their long retreat out of the Sinai Desert a few weeks ago.

Weapons Removed

Tanks, guns and vehicles—much of it captured Egyptian equipment—already had been loaded aboard ships, and lighter material was flown out by planes.

Finnish units of the United Nations Emergency Force were ready to raise the U.N. flag overlooking the narrow coral-dotted strait as soon as the Israelis pull out.

Israel's withdrawal from the 26-by-6-mile Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean after 125 days of occupation was swiftly completed before dawn, except for a tiny working party which did not leave until afternoon.

The departure of the victors in the October-November invasion against Egypt was without incident except for a few unexplained gunshots. The 300,000 residents, including some 200,000 Israeli-hating Arab refugees from Palestine, were under curfew. Only a handful defied the orders to stay indoors and greeted the change-over with shouts of "Long live Nasser, long live Nehru, long live Arab unity, down with the imperialists."

Headquarters Relinquished

Col. Matityahu Peled, 33-year-old Israeli military governor, met at midnight with Swedish Col. Carl Lundquist of the U. N. forces and handed over his headquarters, a large police fort in Gaza built by the British in the days of their Palestine mandate.

Israeli convoys, preceded and followed by armored cars, wheeled off and the evacuation was completed for all practical purposes 15 hours before the deadline set by the Israeli command.

Israel immediately assumed a stance of watchfulness. Troops took up positions in border sentry posts. Lookout towers in collective settlements along the border again were manned by Israeli farmers. Tractor drivers again carried rifles in the fields on lookout for commando raiders.

Tug Strike Settled

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Union and company negotiators agreed tonight on a new contract to end the city's 35-day tugboat strike. The pact will be presented to the union membership tomorrow for action.

U.S. Protests Hungarian "Intimidation" Tactics

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The United States today demanded that Hungary stop trying to frighten visitors away from the U.S. legation in Budapest.

It said Hungarian police have been doing this by questioning callers and arresting some of them, as they left the legation.

The American protest against police "interference" with U.S. diplomatic rights in the Hungarian capital followed similar protests made in the last few days by Britain, France and Austria.

Officials reported tonight that apparently as a result of these other complaints the situation has already improved. Communist police have virtually given up "harassment" of visitors to the legation office they said, and the hope now is that the Hungarians will abandon the tactic altogether. For this reason, the United States couched its protest in polite language than would otherwise have been used.

Officials said police activity around the legation reached its height last week with the result that only about 20 Hungarian citizens in an afternoon would call at the office instead of the usual eight or ten.

Financial Burden

NEW DELHI, India, March 7 (AP)—Danish Prime Minister H. C. Hansen said today the four Scandinavian countries have decided on eventual withdrawal from the U.N. Emergency Force, perhaps within a few months.

He said the main reason was "economic."

GOP Bill To Assist Corn Growers Dies In House

Farm Leaders To Seek Truce Over Weekend

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—After two days of hot partisan debate and flareups, the House today killed a Republican farm bill to aid corn growers. It then quit until next Tuesday for a cooling-off period.

House farm leaders indicated they would seek a truce over the weekend in the bitter political fighting which has developed over rival proposals for new corn and feed grain subsidies.

Rep. Poage (D-Ind.), acting chairman of the Agriculture Committee, invited Republican committee members to meet with the Democrats tomorrow. Chairman Cooley (D-Mo.) had announced earlier he would consider GOP suggestions for revising pending Democratic proposals.

When the House adjourned late today it had pending before it a second Republican proposal, by Rep. Harrison (R-Nebr.), on which the House suspended action until Tuesday.

The day's floor battle, marked by charges and countercharges of politics, came to a head when the House defeated a Republican-backed corn bill by a vote of 187-180.

This bill, by Rep. August Anderson (R-Minn.), would have set a new national corn allotment of 51 million acres and assured corn farmers a minimum price support of 75 per cent of parity. Parity is a price deemed fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

It would also have entitled corn growers in the commercial corn-growing area to soil bank benefits for placing 15 per cent of their corn acreage or other tillable land in the soil bank reserve.

Before the House voted down the Anderson bill, it added to it a provision which would have given soil bank subsidies for feed grains to corn farmers even if they did not comply with acreage controls.

This amendment, which went down to defeat with the Anderson proposal, was offered by Rep. Carl Anderson (R-Minn.) and was approved by a 161-159 vote.

The House defeated 172-168 vote an amendment by Rep. McGovern (R-S.D.) to support at 90 per cent parity the price of virtually every farm commodity from wheat and cotton to eggs and calves.

Under the administration's flexible support program, only the major "basic" crops — cotton, wheat, corn, rice, peanuts and tobacco—now have price support floors under them and none at a mandatory 90 per cent.

Ike Would Back Hall For N.Y. Governor

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower said tonight he will be a "booster" for former Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall seeks the governorship of New York next year.

Eisenhower, making an appearance at a party given for Hall by Senate and House Republicans in the Senate Office Building, said Hall "never even has told me what he wants to do" in his political future.

Hall resigned as chairman of the GOP National Committee in January amid reports that he might be appointed to a high government post as a preliminary to seeking the New York governorship in 1958.

Conservative Wins Seat Vacated By Eden

WARWICK, England, March 7 (AP)—A Conservative won Sir Anthony Eden's old seat in Parliament in a special election today but the Labor party candidate ran him a relatively close race.

Eden vacated the seat after he resigned as prime minister for announced reasons of ill health in January. He had a 13.466 edge in the last general elections.

The Conservative majority this time was cut to 2,157 and Laborites were jubilant.

The result of the two-way contest was:

John Hobson, Conservative, 24, 948; William Wilson, Labor, 22, 791.

Censors Reversed

Scenes Of Naked Indians Ordered Put Back In Film

ANNAPOLIS, March 7 (AP)—The live unclothed in the jungles of Brazil. The State Board of Censors snipped out those shots which showed bodies below the waist, and said that "the showing of nudity, or nude people, in a pseudo-documentary, which this officially is, is calculated to arouse sexual desires of substantial numbers of people."

The high court said the board "did not weigh the scenes it found objectionable in relation to the picture as a whole to determine whether overall worth more than counter-balanced possible obscene or pornographic bits of sequences."

In said the board's decision was predicated on "unsound legal life of the Camayura Indians who, ground."

Big Electronic Brain To Save Army Millions

DETROIT, March 7 (AP)—The Army took the wraps off its $4,100,000 so-called electronic brain with a public demonstration at headquarters of the Tank-Automotive Command here today.

It takes 100 persons to operate the gigantic machine, but it keeps track of more than 100 million facts and an Army spokesman predicted it would save "many millions of dollars."

The machine, built by Radio Corp. of America, is named "Bizmac". The name has no special meaning. The machine covers 20,000 square feet of floor space and includes 220 units of 19 different types of equipment.

Charles S. Diehl, chief of the command's electronic data processing branch, said Bizmac can complete in 48 hours an inventory that once took up to three months or complete in an hour as much computer work as 400 girls with hand calculating machines could in the same time.

Diehl said it would reduce by 85 per cent over the next year the command's visible records which are now on some 10 million file cards, punched cards, metal plates or handwritten sheets.

The Tank-Automotive Command is responsible for development, design, manufacture, storage, supply and maintenance of nearly everything needed to put a global army on wheels or tracks.

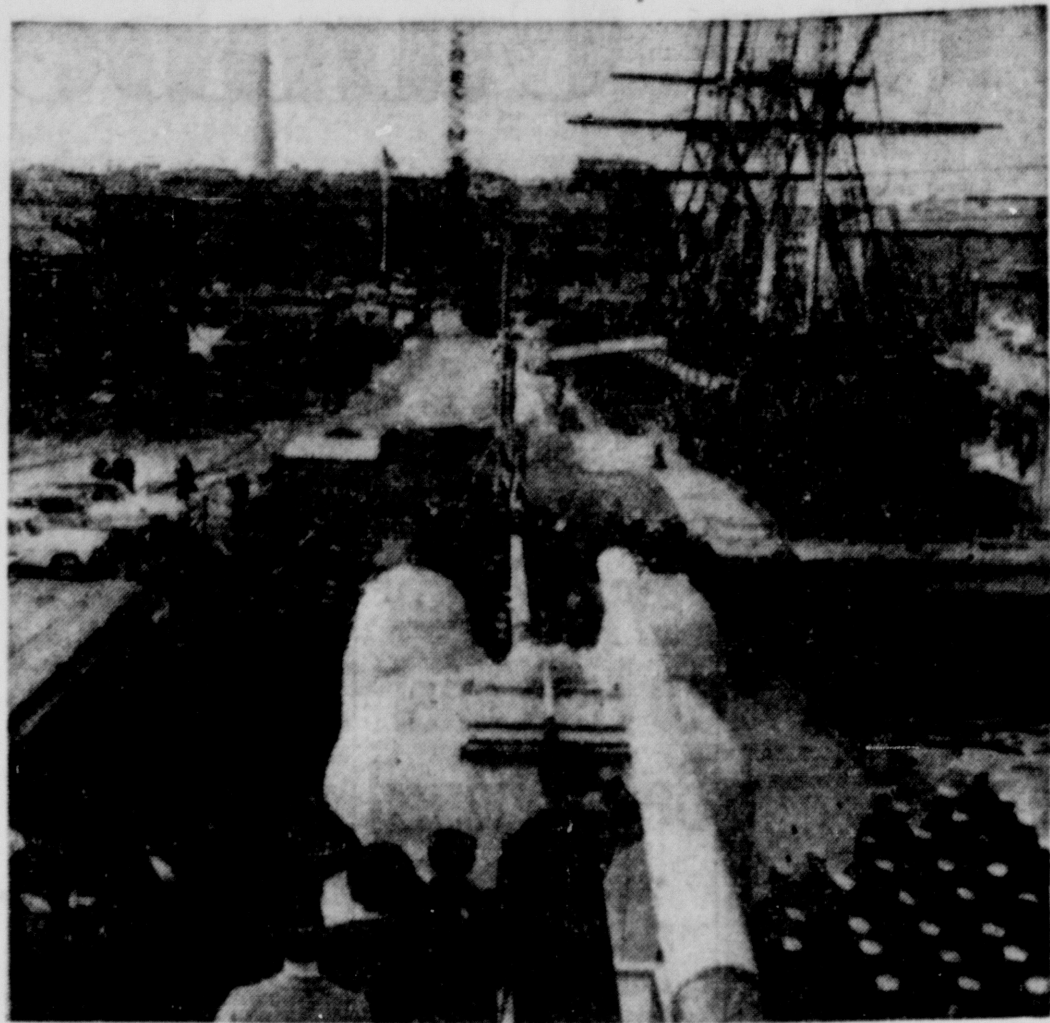

It operates 12 major depots in the United States and abroad. Its inventory includes 170,000 separate items, from nuts and bolts to complete engines and giant transmissions.

Diehl said Bizmac can take inventory, catalog spare parts, prepare manuscripts for catalogs, forecast supply requirements and produce budget summaries at electronic speeds. It can, for instance, snatch out data from magnetic tapes and print it at the amazing rate of 600 lines a minute.

Soil Bank Pacts

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that farmers had signed agreements through March 1 to retire 17,592,134 acres of land from production this year under the soil bank program.

Farmers would be entitled to payments totaling $468,543,267 for holding this acreage out of production of surplus crops.

Council Endorses Ghana's U.N. Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N.H. March 7 (AP)—In record time, Ghana was approved today for membership in the United Nations.

The application was received soon after Ghana emerged yesterday as an independent nation out of the old Gold Coast colony and British-administered Togoland in West Africa.

The bid won unanimous approval in the Security Council and now goes before the 80-nation General Assembly tomorrow for an expected unanimous vote. A two-thirds majority is needed.

Coolidge's Widow To Leave Hospital

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 7 (AP)—Coolidge Dickinson Hospital said Mrs. Grace Coolidge, 78, widow of former President Calvin Coolidge, is going home today.

Mrs. Coolidge, suffering from cardiac and kidney failure, has been a patient since Feb. 25. The hospital said treatment has been completed and she will convalesce at home.

China Reds Free U. S. Missionary

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The British Embassy here informed the State Department today that the Rev. Paul Mackensen, a Lutheran missionary from Baltimore, had been released after five years imprisonment in Communist China.

This reduced to nine the number of Americans listed as being held in Red Chinese prisons.

State Department Press Officer Lincoln White said that so far as the department knew, Mackensen is still in Shanghai. A reporter who interviewed the Rev. Mackensen in prison a few weeks ago said the missionary was not sure whether he would leave China or stay there.

Bomber Explodes

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 7 (AP)—A B47 exploded on the flight line of Lake Charles Air Force Base today and burned two men working on the bomb bay underneath the plane.

The fire spread to a nearby B47 setting it afire also. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Negro Who Wounded Four Takes Own Life

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., March 7 (AP)—A 23-year-old construction worker, sought for the shooting and slight wounding of four persons, was found shot to death early today. Police termed the death a suicide.

The slumped body of Leroy Childress was found in the yard by an unidentified man on his way to work.

Police said Childress went berserk last night and fired a shotgun into a rooming house, wounding three women and a boy. All are Negroes.

Police said the shootings followed a quarrel Childress had with his girl friend.

British Ship-Building Unions Vote To Strike

YORK, England, March 7 (AP)—Britain's ship-building unions voted tonight to strike March 16 because of a rejected claim for higher wages. The strike would involve about 200,000 workers and would paralyze Britain's huge ship-building industry.

Lent Is Period Of Sorrow And Faith For Christians

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

These are solemn days for Christians. It's a time of contrition for the human shortcomings that oppose God, that inflict pain and injustice, that led even to the death of Christ—in the grip of man's ceaseless failures.

But the period—called Lent—ends in the redeeming assurance of Easter: that life can be renewed, that man can always find forgiveness and try again with a fresh beginning, despite past faults.

This is the mingled sorrow and faith of Lent, a 40-day period that moves through the Valley of the Cross, but emerges on the peak of Christ's resurrection.

It began on March 6, Ash

Wednesday, when Roman Catholic, Orthodox and some Episcopalian Christians knelt at the altar, and received the cross-shaped daub of ashes on their forehead, with these words: "Remember, man, that thou art dust."

Other denominations generally do not observe the ritual, considering the ash-marked forehead stentatious, but they too stress the frailties of man, and the need for self-examination and penitence.

The church concept is that men in their continuous wrongs, share in the guilt of the cross and offenses against God, and must also share the endless burden of such wrongdoing through repentance, if they are to share in renewal through the Resurrection.

As Christ phrased it: "Take up your own cross daily"—to find salvation.

To understand the full meaning, says the Catholic Messenger, of Davenport, Iowa, takes the "wisdom born of faith."

"The cross is always . . . the sign and agent of the sinner's ransom. To hover in its shadow is always to be in reach of restoration."

Lent (whose 40 days does not include the Sundays within the period), also includes fasting among some Christians, special services and offerings to help the oppressed and needy.

One event, observed in some 30,000 Protestant and Orthodox churches across the country and in 145 lands abroad, is the "World Day of Prayer" this Friday, March 8.

Special services for use on the occasion, sponsored by the United Church Women, were written this year by Mrs. Bela Bussady, of Lancaster, Pa., a Hungarian refugee, based on scripture from Romans 8:

"Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril or sword? . . . Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us."

Couple Feared Perfect Double Crime Victims

ACAPULCO, Mexico, March 7 (AP)—Gonzalo Gonzalez, chief of the judicial police here, said yesterday he fears a missing New York couple are the victims of a perfect double crime.

Joseph Michel, a New York attorney, and Mrs. Edith Hallock, also of New York, dropped out of sight here Feb. 20. Police have been unable to find any trace of them despite a search extending to small coastal villages.

"I am becoming inclined to believe there was a double crime," Gonzalez said, "a perfect double crime with the bodies well hidden."

Some points already searched by police were being rechecked. Agents of the Interior Department and federal security police joined the search and began to spread into the interior of this state of Guerrero in the hunt.

For a while police had held out hope that Michel and Mrs. Hallock who had traveled together frequently, had made some side trip and would return.

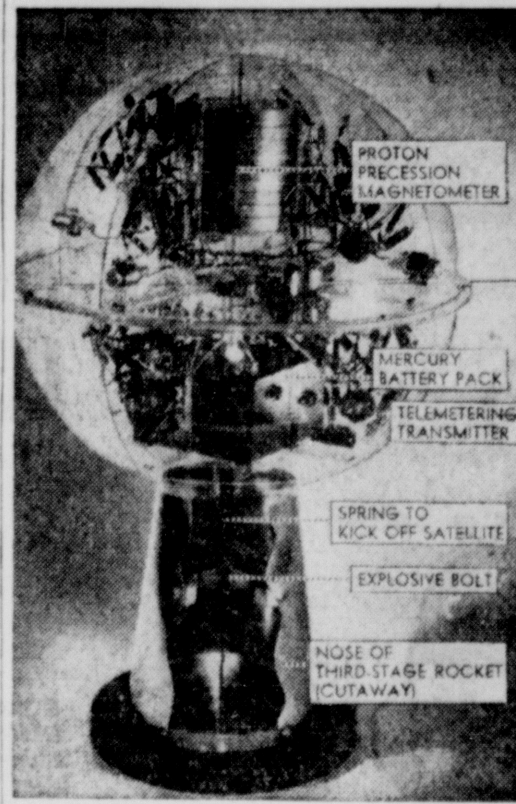

But the fact Michel had reservations for his return to New York March 1 and that all their luggage was in their hotel rooms indicated they did not intend to stay away from Acapulco for any length of time, police said.

Arturo Cordova, manager of the Hotel Las Hamacas, where the couple stayed, said he found an unfinished letter to a friend in Mrs. Hallock's room. The letter, addressed to Mrs. Fred Seide, Colony Hotel, Palm Beach, Fla., was dated "morning of the 19th," the day before the couple disappeared.

Mrs. Hallock's letter said she was having a wonderful time but planned to see Mrs. Seide about the first of March.

Alcoholics Increase

TORONTO, March 7 (AP)—There are 2,210 alcoholics for every 100,000 persons in Ontario, an increase of 178 per cent since 1945, says the annual report of the Alcoholism Research Foundation.

Zero Hour Approaching For Satellite Launching

Work on the earth satellite is progressing and the launching time is drawing near. At the left is the plastic model of the satellite. Principal parts are labeled. Top center is the site of the satellite launching, the top-secret, well-guarded auxiliary Air Force Base at Cape Canaveral, Fla. A drawing of the three-stage launching vehicle with the satellite in the nose is superimposed on a diagram showing the launching vehicle's path into the space and the orbit the satellite will follow. At the right are Dr. Milton N. Rosen (top), technical director for the launching vehicle, and J. P. Walsh, in charge of construction.

Missile's Ancestor

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—Red China radio reports the ancestor of modern missiles and rockets is on display at a Peiping artillery exhibit. The "propelled arrow" was built by a navy captain named Tang Fu in about 1,000 A.D. from a case filled with explosive and fitted with a war-headed shaft, it says.

Egypt Invites Trade

CAIRO, March 7 (AP)—Egypt's Commerce Ministry is inviting trade with all countries, the Middle East News Agency reports. Among inquiries is one from Mexico recalling that Egypt pioneered in cosmetics many centuries ago and is still in the business. Mexico asked to get in touch with exporters of dye-stuffs for beauty preparations.

Plant Life On Mars?

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—The Soviet Academy of Sciences concludes there is plant life on Mars, judging from observations made when the planet was nearest the earth in September.

The ancient Hebrews are said to be the inventors of artificial teeth.

Apology To Rotterdam

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—The Encyclopedia Britannica apologizes to Rotterdam and the outraged Dutch press. Someone forgot to revise the article on Rotterdam in the 1956 edition. It was listed as the second largest port in Europe (it's the largest).

There are about 1,400 uses for salt.

Male Efficiency Expert Risking Housewives' Ire

LEICESTER, England, March 7 (AP)—A male efficiency expert said today a housewife should get through her work in two hours. "The old saying that a housewife's work is never finished is rubbish," said C. W. H. Jones of the British Productivity Council.

"In the average household of four a housewife, with effective planning should get through her daily routine in just over two hours."

One of the audience asked the lecturer what happened in his home.

"The same as everywhere else, I'm afraid," confessed Jones. "I dare not mention the subject of efficiency to my wife. She's the boss in the kitchen."

Police Learn Home Can Even Be Ladies Room

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Travel east, travel west—after all, Penn Station's best.

Or at least so it seemed for women arrested yesterday for making a home of the ladies room in the Manhattan railroad terminal.

The women, aged from 45 to 72 and carrying their paper-bagged belongings to court, were tried before Magistrate Jack L. Nicoll.

Four were found guilty of loitering and got suspended sentences, two were acquitted and another pleaded guilty.

A 72-year-old woman, Mrs. Dora Peck, said, "I've been staying there a little over two months now." The city is sheltering her for the time being.

The 59-year-old woman, Mrs. Lena Onorato, produced two bankbooks showing balances of $1,410 and told the magistrate she had "only lived there two weeks." She said, "I couldn't find a room."

She was acquitted and promised to find a room.

The court heard this picture of their daily life:

1. Up at 6 a.m. for breakfast, then morning window shopping.

2. Afternoon job-seeking or, in bad weather, catnapping.

3. Back to sleep at midnight.

The Welfare Department was asked to help straighten out their affairs.

Four Somerset Co. Men Jailed On Theft

Four Somerset County residents are being held in the county jail for the next term of court in connection with the theft of Western Maryland Railway property in the Meyersdale vicinity according to Lt. BB. F. Beaky, of the railroad police department.

They are Edward Hosteller, Meyersdale, RD; Clifford Sanner, Meyersdale; Chester Sanner, Rockwood, and Elwood Baughman, Sand Patch. All four have been charged with burglary and larceny, Lt. Beaky added. A fifth man is being sought in connection with the series of thefts.

Local Twins Visit Mayor Of Chicago

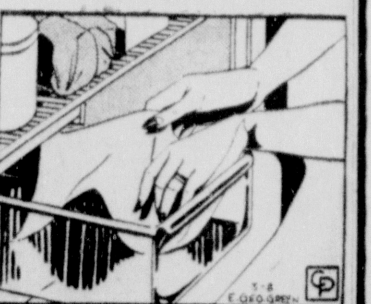

If they don't know about Cumberland, Maryland, around Chicago it's their own fault because two St. Patrick's Parochial School students, Rose Mary and Kathy Firlie, 11-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent G. Firlie, 448 Baltimore Avenue, decided to do a little boosting for their hometown during a recent visit to the Windy City.

The Sixth Grade students called on Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, presenting a letter of introduction from Mayor Roy W. Eves, and were taken on a tour of the City Hall. They also took in the "Breakfast Club" program and got in some plugs for Cumberland by giving Host Don McNeill several souvenirs of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Improvised Emergency Booties Of Plastic

If you should happen to be caught in an unexpected down-pour of rain just when you're stepping out on Saturday night . . . wrap some transparent plastic film around your dancing slippers to prevent them from becoming soaked. This is a good "emergency" idea.

WIFE PRESERVER

Fresh green vegetables and greens won't spoil in the refrigerator compartment if you line the bottom of the container with paper toweling. The toweling absorbs the excess moisture which accumulates in the bottom of the container.

Lodge 47 Auxiliary Will Entertain District Officer

Tentative plans to entertain the vice grand president of District 3 and to initiate new members were formulated at a meeting of Pride of 628, Lodge 47, Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Wednesday evening in the Ridgeley fire hall.

Mrs. Fona Whipple, Pensacola, Fla., who organized Lodge 47 last September has notified the lodge she will make an official visit next month. Tentative plans call for entertaining Mrs. Whipple at a dinner, followed by a lodge meeting. Mrs. Edith Currence presided and appointed Mrs. Mary Benson, Mrs. Verna Benson, Mrs. Louise Justice a refreshment committee for next month.

Great Books Association To Entertain Group Plans Husbands; Votes Projects Program

Discussing a program for the general AAUW meeting, members of the Great Books Group of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, decided to have Mrs. Milton Granet review "USA," instead of a number participating.

Mrs. John A. Cupler II was hostess for the meeting when the topic for discussion was the short stories of Bret Harte. Mrs. William Durland was general chairman of the discussion of his style, which it was pointed out shows great vitality; how he emphasized the coarseness of early days in California; and the regional trend of his writings which emphasized that part of California and the characters of California of that period.

The discussion period dealt with the characters he wrote about, his humor and his place in American literature. The general feeling was that the age of his influence is past, but he had been influential in short stories. The consensus was that most prefer Mark Twain to Bret Harte, and that the former's characters stand up better.

Others present were Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, chairman, Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer, Mrs. Milton Beneman, Mrs. Maurice Milberg, Mrs. Amer Suter, Miss Dorothy Harlowe, Mrs. Ralph Webster, Mrs. Granet, Mrs. Gordon Bowie, Mrs. Morgan Smith, Mrs. Royce Hodges, Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Granville Shirley, Mrs. Paul Castelle and three guests, Mrs. John Van Sickle, Mrs. A. J. Feigus and Mrs. Adolph Wolfertman.

The April 2 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Durland, Henry Street, Cash Valley Road. At that time there will be a discussion of "The Wild Duck," a play by Henry Ibsen. Leaders will be Mrs. John Hafer and Mrs. Bowie.

She also spoke of the Brownie Scout troop, 47, sponsored by the Templar Bible class. A flag ceremony was presented by Joyce Klavuhn, Elizabeth Blair, Susan Kuykendall, Shirley Robertson, Billie Holbrook, Dale Kauffman and Ruth Harris.

The United Nations flag and symbols decorated the stage for the program. Mrs. Ross Petty was moderator for the discussion on the UN and its work for peace. Aside from the political angle for peace, she listed the four organizations which the UN supports working for peace in economic ways: UNICEF, international children's fund; WHO, for health; FAO, food and agriculture; and UNESCO, educational and cultural organization. Mrs. Petty explained they are of special interest to individuals who can help the UN work by contributions.

Scouts taking part in this section of the program were dressed to represent the countries helped by the UN. They were Debra Bowen as Holland; Betsy Ebert, India; Mary Alice Dean, Japan; Karen Holbrook, China; Dianna Wendt, Chile; Hollie Smith, Canada Girl Guide; and Joyce Klavuhn, Girl Scout USA. They were assisted by Mrs. Robert Klavuhn, Mrs. W. B. Harris, leaders and Mrs. William Courtney, representative of the scout committee.

Assisting in the program, by giving statistics in a "Did You Know?" report were Mrs. Walter Miller and Mrs. Decker. Mrs. Harry Mills Sr., conducted devotionals on "Peace," read the Scripture and offered prayer for peace. The group sang the "Hymn of the United Nations" and "In Christ There Is no East or West," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. William Ludman. The program closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Members of the Boughton-Dehn Circle were hostesses for the social hour and Mrs. Richards and Mrs. William Courtney presided at the tea table.

Novelist Who Quit Reds Assails Soviet System

NEW YORK, March 7 — Novelist Howard Fast, who broke with the Communist party last month, has denounced the Soviet system as "socialism without morality." He called for removal of present Russian leadership.

Fast gave his views in an article in the March issue of Mainstream, a left-wing literary journal that has been close to the Communist party in the past.

Mainstream's editors in the same issue published a reply rejecting Fast's views for the most part, although indicating sympathy with some parts of the writer's indictment of Soviet Russia.

Fast wrote that the Soviet system is "socialism without democracy, without trial by jury, habeas corpus or the right against self-incrimination, without civil liberty, without public avenues of protest, without equality for minorities, without right of free artistic creation."

He added that present Soviet leaders should be denounced "not only for their acquiescence in the crimes of Stalin, but for their continuing record of intolerance and dogmatic bossism since the exposure of these crimes."

Fast's reputation as an author rests mainly on his historical novels dealing with the American Revolution. Although he never publicly admitted membership in the Communist party, he was for many years deeply involved in Communist causes and was a leading spokesman in defense of the party.

In 1950 Fast served a jail term for contempt of Congress growing out of his refusal to answer questions about communism.

Ike Doctrine Adopted In Time To Take Advantage Of Psychological Situation

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Congressional approval of the Eisenhower Doctrine comes just in time to take advantage of a new psychological situation in the Middle East.

Indeed, it can be argued that if it had been faster it might not have been so effective.

The Middle Eastern crisis has been eased but by no means ended. It is possible that the area's concentration on day-to-day symptoms may now be shifted to long-range approaches.

The Israeli pullout is being accompanied by Syria's decision to reopen the pipeline by which Iraq oil reaches the Mediterranean. When the damage has been repaired, this supply, added to American oil now being shipped, will just about balance Western Europe's loss through closure of the Suez Canal.

Indications from Cairo are that the canal will soon be reopened. By obtaining passage for shipping through the Strait of Tiran, Israel expects to enter upon a new trade program with Indian Ocean and Pacific Ocean ports.

It is hard to put your finger on such things, but it seems reasonable to assume that at least some Middle Eastern leaders have been frightened into realization of a danger they have run through prosecution of their own little conflicts without regard for the world situation.

They came awfully close to turning the area into a cockpit for World War III which would have ruined them.

One great development from the crisis is the new relationship of the United States to the area. American companies have already been operating on the Middle East on a strictly business rather than a colonial basis. The United States government has acted as an honest and successful broker during the crisis. Prior to that she was little more than an onlooker. The British had the United States blocked out with their claim to be the know-it-alls of the area, and they flopped miserably.

Now the United States is preparing to help the struggling states take a forward look. She has lifted the fear that Russia will intervene with force, because Russia dare not and will not cross the deadline set in the Eisenhower resolution.

Behind this barrier of security, the economic problems which leave the Middle East a power vacuum in world affairs, open to Communist infiltration, can be approached from a constructive standpoint.

The President and Secretary Dulles have promised that no political strings will be attached to the money they now propose to invest.

Early Congressional History Bobs Up During Week Of Its 169th Anniversary

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, March 7 — Since this is Congress' birth week, our legislators have been busy congratulating themselves on what a wonderful old institution they are.

And in addition to the adjectives and the jollity that might be expected on the anniversary of any lively 168-year-old, quite a bit of early congressional history has bobbed up.

Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD), for instance, has put in the Congressional Record an excerpt that shows what it meant to be a congressman in 1803:

"We go into bed at 11," Rep. Roger Griswold of Connecticut wrote Mrs. Fanny Washington. "We rise at half past 8, eat our breakfast at 9; talk politics till 10; dress ourselves by 11; then go to the hall and quarrel till 3; return at that hour for dinner; after which we either sit stupidly in our chambers till supper or read newspapers, enjoy the perfume of tobacco smoke, and talk scandal and smut till 9, after which we retire to our chambers to write or read till the hour of rest."

"It is true that the scene is occasionally diversified by invitations to dine with our acquaintances, etc.; but this is making the thing worse."

"Upon those occasions we must sit at the dinner table till 9 in the evening and without enjoying much mirth must entail on ourselves a headache for the next day at least."

"Such is the life of a member of Congress."

When anyone looks back, the tendency always is to say: "They were giants in those days." But they didn't always look like giants to their contemporaries.

In 1809, Sen. Nicholas Gilman of New Hampshire was complaining:

"To expect from the efforts of a heterogeneous mass compound of 200 wireheads and blockheads, in pursuit of popularity, a correct, well digested political course to any mind irrational."

And just as today we often complain that Congress seems uncommonly slow in getting down to business, so in 1809 a man named Jackson—possibly Rep. Richard Jackson Jr. of Rhode Island—was writing:

"Committees have been appointed in the Senate and House of Representatives to take into consideration parts of the President's message."

"But the only occurrence that has yet taken place there worthy of notice is that one of the members of the House of Representatives has been horsewhipped by the President's secretary within the halls of the Capitol and another has been severely wounded in a duel."

In some ways Congress doesn't seem to have changed much. A few have great talent, a few have no discernible talent at all, and most are somewhere in between. Leastwise, that's the way Rep. Ezekiel Whitman of Massachusetts sized up his colleagues in 1810.

After naming those he thought had talent, Whitman said:

"Burwell has considerable information and seems very candid. Fisk is a long-winded, chuckle-headed fellow. McKee is sprightly and fanciful."

"There are three stupid, loquacious old fellows, viz. Smilie, Rhea of T., and a man we call Lord Holland of N.C. who feel the weight of the nation resting on their shoulders. The two latter

Newsmen Freed By Cuba Praise State Department

KEY WEST, Fla., March 7 (AP)—Two Birmingham, Ala., newsmen arrived from Cuba yesterday and said they were told by the Cuban government to "get out of Cuba."

George Prentice, 32, a reporter, and Anthony Falletta, 35, a photographer, said they had been held in custody by Cuban authorities since Friday. They spent Sunday and Monday in a Havana jail.

Cuban government officials have been reported irked by recent stories in The New York Times reporting one of its correspondents interviewed Fidel Castro Luz, a Cuban revolutionary leader.

Prentice and Falletta were on leave of absence and were on special assignment for the National Broadcasting Co.

"We are free men only through intervention of the U. S. Department of State," Prentice told the Birmingham News by telephone.

"We have been either in custody of the military, under the surveillance of the secret police or in a Havana jail since last Friday," he said.

Prentice related, "We came to Cuba two weeks ago on assignment for NBC to contact 'rebel elements' in the mountains of southern Cuba and get their story."

He said the Cuban government claimed they had "revolutionary propaganda" in their possession. Prentice said they were charged also with releasing information detrimental to the government of President Fulgencio Batista; having Communist tendencies; and with bringing money into Cuba to support the anti-Batista movement.

Interior Minister Santiago Rey told U. S. representatives in Havana that Prentice and Falletta were "disguised as miners," and added "Americans don't have to disguise themselves in order to do reporting in Cuba."

Prentice said, "We were traveling as geologists when we ran into the army in Oriente Province. We had found newsmen wouldn't get very far as newsmen."

"We went through Havana Feb. 18 on our second trip into Cuba."

"Falletta and myself were here several weeks ago on vacation when we ran into the 'rebel situation,' and the severe censorship that was then clamped tight on the island.

"We made contact with Gen. Lauro Blanco, one of the leaders of the antigovernment action in the provinces."

Prentice said that Friday, upon reaching Oriente Province in the Sierra Maestra Mountains, they were stopped by Cuban soldiers.

"We were told that we could not advance any further. We were put under technical arrest."

"At that time there were two days—by foot—from the area where we believed Gen. Castro was operating."

The newsmen said they spent the night with the Cuban troops, and Saturday were sent back to Santiago and later to Havana, where they were jailed.

"We were taken to the military intelligence service headquarters at Havana. There were were confined. All the material and pictures we had accumulated were confiscated."

"We were questioned and re-questioned."

"We had sufficient food. But we slept in an anteroom on a small divan. We had no change of clothing nor were we permitted to shave."

"I had collected samples of the antigovernment literature that is being circulated in Cuba. When the secret service agents found this material, they accused me of being a Communist."

Reds Admit Some Defects Their Fault

MOSCOW, March 7 (AP)—The Soviet Communist party warned its members today against blaming all the defects of Communist society on penetration of capitalist ideas. Some of the blame for dissatisfaction must fall on Soviet failure to satisfy all the needs of the people, the party was told.

This unusually frank discussion appeared in the current issue of Kommunist, authoritative monthly of the Soviet party. Its appearance coincides with widespread changes in the country's economic structure which emphasize decentralization of authority.

Kommunist said old capitalist memories linger to a considerable degree in the Soviet Union, but Communists must also consider that the Soviet level of production thus far "cannot guarantee complete satisfaction of all the requirements of the people in food, industrial goods and housing, although every year the Soviet state is achieving great successes in these spheres."

Father Blames City In Son's Electrocution

CHICAGO, March 7 (AP)—The father of a 14-year-old boy electrocuted while hanging an Elvis Presley effigy from a city light pole has sued the city of Chicago for $25,000 damages.

In a suit filed in Superior Court, Louis Ritchie charged the city was careless and negligent in permitting frayed and uninsulated wires to remain on the pole.

Ritchie's son, Martin, was killed Nov. 12 at the top of a 30-foot pole. The suit claims frayed wires allowed a metal shade around a lightbulb to become charged with electricity.

When the boy tried to loop a rope around the fixture, the suit alleged, he was electrocuted.

Nehru Regrets Editorial Attack On Elizabeth

NEW DELHI, March 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru last night offered his apologies and said he deeply regrets an editorial attacking Queen Elizabeth II in the journal of his Congress party, the Economic Review.

He described the editorial's language as "wholly intemperate and in very bad taste."

He issued a statement saying: "I was greatly disturbed to read this editorial note... I am particularly disturbed that the Queen's name should have been brought into this and I should like to offer my apologies to her."

The publication's chief editor, Shriman Narayan, who also is Congress party general secretary, expressed regret for the reference to the Queen and "the unrestrained language."

Both he and Nehru said the editorial was written during Narayan's absence from New Delhi on an election campaign trip.

Nehru told newsmen earlier at a reception celebrating Ghana's Independence Day that the editorial was "the height of bad form and in very bad taste."

The article was based on press reports quoting the Queen as saying on her good-will visit to Portugal: "The world is now living in more anxious days than it did 50 years ago and the civilizing work which we pursued has not always met the understanding which it would have been right to expect in view of the results achieved."

The editorial said, "Elizabeth II is sorry that the world is not able to appreciate the hanging by the neck of Greek patriots in Cyprus or the Portuguese butcheries in GOA. We regret the low level of intelligence."

The article written by the magazine's editor, H. D. Malaviya, added that the Queen's Portuguese visit was "significant in so far as all these 'civilizers' are on the eve of their final extinction."

Two London newspapers said the article was an "insult" to the Queen and that the British Foreign Office had protested to the Indian high commissioner in London. India has been trying to get Portugal to give up her small GOA colony on the coast of the Indian subcontinent.

Mrs. Pandit Apologizes

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, India's envoy to Britain, has apologized officially for an attack on Queen Elizabeth II published in India.

A spokesman at Mrs. Pandit's office said on instructions from the Indian government she had written a letter to the Queen offering apologies and referring to the high regard in which the Queen is held in India.

The attack—sarcastic comment on a speech by the Queen during her state visit to Portugal—appeared in the Economic Review, a publication of Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party. London newspapers termed it an insult to the Queen.

Lady Delegate's 'Charm And Grace' Fails To Prevent Scorching Defeat

ANNAPOLIS, March 7 (AP) — A lady delegate's "charm and grace" was admitted by a colleague and herself today, but it didn't prevent her from suffering a scorching defeat in the Maryland House of Delegates.

Del. Margaret Schweinhaut (D-Montgomery) took an unusual step when she forced by petition a bill of her's out of committee to the House floor. The bill to establish a separate planning commission for her county had been given an unfavorable report 10-2 by the Montgomery and Prince George's delegation.

Planning for the two counties has been under administration of a joint commission for nearly 30 years.

The majority of the two county delegations not only disapproved the bill, but voted to hold it off the floor.

Del. Schweinhaut convinced 15 delegates, 14 of them from other than the two counties involved, to sign a petition which required its appearance.

It is traditional in the Maryland General Assembly that "outside" representatives do not dissent from the majority in a local dispute. Del. Wilkinson (D-Prince George's) said he was "amazed" that the 14 unconcerned delegates had agreed to the petition.

He suggested they might have succumbed to the lady delegate's "charm and grace." Mrs. Schweinhaut arose to say her charms were not in dispute and she admitted them.

"But it sounds better if I say it, rather than you," jibed Del. Wilkinson.

The vote then was called to move the bill despite the unfavorable report. Only seven delegates joined Mrs. Schweinhaut in favor while there were 89 against.

A slowdown move on the proposed acquisition of the Baltimore Transit Co. by the city was initiated today.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro sat and watched this afternoon while bills authorizing the city to borrow 25 million dollars to buy the company were introduced at his request in the General Assembly.

A few hours later, three Third District delegates called first for public expression on the proposal.

The bill by Dels. Buffington, Acker and Brooks would give the voters in Baltimore City, Anne Arundel, Howard and Baltimore counties an opportunity to be heard. The question of city purchase of the transit company would be on the election ballot in November 1958.

Extension of the State's road building program through 1968 instead of 1965 was proposed by the two floor leaders of the House, Del. Boone (D-Balto County) and Hughes (R-Allegany).

They urged that the State planning be coordinated with a new federal aid program.

The State adopted a 12-year program in 1953. Congress last year enacted a new 13-year program.

Dels. Boone and Hughes asked by resolution that the State Roads Commission draw up a plan for extension of its program and deliver it to the General Assembly next year.

Potomac Council Boy Scout Leaders Begin Plans For District Development

An overall plan for development of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, has been started, according to Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, council president. The initial stage of the plan will be undertaken by Ivan Hall, LaVale, chairman of the council's organization and extension committee. Hall reported at the recent council executive board meeting in the William James Hotel, Oakland, that he has recruited a number of men to make a study of the boy population of the council's area, which is comprised of Allegany, Garrett, Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy and Grant counties. The committee will also make a survey of the sponsoring Scout and Cub Scout institutions and their location in relation to the boy population, Dr. Bess said. After this committee has reported its findings and conclusions, other groups in the council, such as camping and activities, will tie their plans for their future programs in with the field executive. The council has only a scout executive, Willis V. Smith, and a field executive, Wilbert Sifton for its 1,967 boys. The number of professional Scouters in relation to the number of boys they can serve amounts to nearly 1,000 for each of the two executives here. The average number of boys Scouters to the 11-year-old boy hit the 2,000 mark in Boy Scout population in the Scout movement. In Region 3 runs to about 600 boys per professional Scouter. Tribur said the work of two men can only go so far. Potomac Council, he pointed out, is at the bottom of the regional list in its class in the ratio of professional Scouters to the 11-year-old boy. The council has been trying to hit the 2,000 mark in Boy Scout participation and expects to hit this mark this year, Dr. Bess said. The regional average is .442 executives to 1,000 boys. The council has been trying to hit the 2,000 mark in Boy Scout participation and expects to hit this mark this year, Dr. Bess said. In the below-2,000 class, Potomac Council has only .12 executives to 1,000 boys.

THERE'S SOMETHING NEW AT THE BREAD DISPLAY OF YOUR FRIENDLY GROCERS!

Women complained that due to the change in bread display methods they could not read bread wrapper in a standing position, so SCHMIDT brings you a NEW bread wrapper that is quick and easy to read when you stop at the bread display counter.

Before SCHMIDT introduced the revolutionary new method of welding the label band to the clear wrapper—women had to struggle to get slices “in or out” of the bread package.

But now—the new SCHMIDT “easy-in, easy-out” package eliminates all such trouble—take slices out—put slices back in—it’s a happy package that brings your family fresher bread.

THEN...

Slices jammed against loose band
Fingers caught on loose band
Packages tore open
Result—stale bread—frustration

NOW...

Label band welded to clear wrapper
No more jammed slices
No more torn packages
Result—fresh bread—happiness

Overeating plays appalling tricks on the figure, and spring's slim fashions and light colors will be most revealing.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Keep In Shape

The natural inclination for the past few months has been to eat more, sit more, and gain more. But now that spring is just around the corner, you've probably come to the sudden realization that it will take a lot of doing to eliminate those extra pounds you've put on and don't want.

Pastries that melt in your mouth, rich sauces, and double chocolate sundaes all sound mighty tempting. But, stop and think. They're really only in your mouth such a short time. Yet their telltale signs of overeating remain with you for such a long time. Is it worth it?

The trick is to eat plain foods. You may have noticed that reducing diets and "Your Beauty Diet" (it's yours for 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope sent to me in care of this newspaper) look ample enough to satisfy a generous appetite. They are. But the foods listed there must all be prepared in the simplest way possible. The main idea is to eat well-balanced meals and eat them regularly.

If you want to keep in shape, remember to: Avoid beverages with meals, Broil, boil, bake, or roast foods—don't fry them. Eat very slowly. This enables you to savor each bite, and you'll get more enjoyment out of less food and will soon desire less. Cream, butter, and fat should be used only in cooking and in very limited quantities. Eating fats and oils give you more fat under the skin. When butter is served, be sure it is soft as it spreads more easily and goes farther.

Serve some raw foods every day, usually as salads, but allow no mayonnaise or rich dressings. Use a slice of lemon (valuable in Vitamin C) or chopped parsley (rich in iron) instead.

Tomorrow: Learn to say nice things.

Stamp Hunters Big Business For Post Office

Stamp collecting is apparently one of the more interesting and fascinating hobbies in America today—at least Post Office Department figures tend to verify that the pastime is at one of the highest points in history.

Postal officials point out that Philatelic Agency sales are at a five-year high ($1,894,855 last fiscal year) and the Department expects to issue a record of more than 24 billion stamps during this year—commemorative and ordinary series combined.

This month the 110th anniversary of the March 3, 1847 law authorizing the first U. S. postage stamps, is being observed. A few statistics show that there are two general types of stamps—the one known as the regular or ordinary issue and the other the commemorative.

The regular issue is available at post offices at all times, while commemorative stamps issued to honor a person or some important occasion, are of a temporary nature and usually are kept on sale for less than a year.

The first stamps issued in the United States went on sale in New York City July 1, 1847—a nickel issue with a picture of Benjamin Franklin and a dime issue with a picture of George Washington.

These 1847 stamps, together with the 10 stamps of an 1851 series, were voided by Congress in 1861, apparently in the fear that Confederate sources would turn supplies of them into U. S. cash.

Today the Post Office Department is getting about 25,000 letters a year from the public about stamps, in addition to thousands of letters a year ordering stamps or requesting philatelic price lists or other philatelic informational material.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

One of the most popular sayings making the rounds in Washington these days goes something like this—"a whale has a far greater chance of being harpooned if he's spouting."

The allusion, of course, is to the frequency with which criticism is directed toward anyone who makes a public statement, but it occurs to me that the entire example changes when we give it fuller consideration.

In Sympathy With Whale Without casting reflections on the opinions of the numerous individuals who have used the expression, I would like to note that when a whale "spouts" it is merely exhaling.

If a whale did not "spout," it would probably drown after submerging.

I, for one, am in sympathy with the whale, and I would much rather "spout" in the open occasionally, leaving myself vulnerable to the attacks of opponents, than doom myself to the fate which attends evasive silence.

Criticism Invited That is why I send these weekly newsletters, and that is why I fully expect—and appreciate—the criticisms which my publicly stated views sometime inspire.

It goes without saying, of course, that I also like to hear expressions of support for my positions on various issues.

Many extremely interested and informative comments have been forwarded to my office with the questionnaires we are currently distributing, and I will give a full report on the matter in approximately a month.

As I have stated previously, my analyses of the results will be made in such a way that the identities of those who have cooperated in the project will be fully protected.

'Buz Sawyer' Artist Honored By College

WINTER PARK, Fla. — Roy Crane, creator of "Buz Sawyer," received an unprecedented honor for a cartoonist here last week when he was awarded a doctor of humane letters degree by Rollins College. "Buz Sawyer" appears in The Cumberland News.

Others on whom honorary degrees were conferred at the ceremony were Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Marion B. Folsom; Sir Richard Livingston, former vice chancellor of Oxford University; Korner, an Ambassador Dr. You Chan Yang; Novelist Gene Markey, and Msgr. Bela Varga, Hungarian patriot.

The citation by Rollins College President Hugh F. McKean, who conferred the degree on Crane, read in part: "Buz Sawyer's number of avid followers gives Mr. Crane vast influence and therefore great power. . . . Buz Sawyer and his creation, 'Buz Sawyer' played an important role in informing the public not only about the Navy and its Air Arm, but they have shown young people the type of courage, ingenuity and intelligence it will take to defeat our enemies."

Thousands of youngsters go to school in the United States under the installment plan—parents underwriting their education the same way they do the TV set, family car, etc.

One thing that impressed me deeply as I studied the first batch of completed questionnaires was the concern which many Marylanders feel about the budget.

Budget Cut Seen Possible

Realizing the economies that can result from enactment of certain Hoover Commission recommendations, I sincerely believe that we can cut proposed expenditures by more than $3 billion without adversely affecting our national defense or economy.

One of the first things we must do to achieve this goal is to eliminate programs in which the Government is in competition with private business. I intend to keep doing everything possible to see that this is accomplished.

NOTES FROM MY APPOINTMENT BOOK: During the week, my visitors included members of the Ninth Grade of Western Junior High School, Montgomery County, and three foreign ladies, one from Pakistan and two from Iceland, who were touring Washington with a Maryland friend. Crane and his creation, "Buz Sawyer" played an important role in informing the public not only about the Navy and its Air Arm, but they have shown young people the type of courage, ingenuity and intelligence it will take to defeat our enemies."

The number of Indians in America at the time of Christopher Columbus' arrival has been estimated at about 1,115,000.

I believe the present school system is luxurious and expen- sive because of the desire of parents for places to park their children while they are at club meetings or out working. I therefore forecast a complete re- volution in school construction, in school maintenance, in the num- ber of teachers required, and in the school curriculum.

What About Teachers' Salaries? It is generally agreed that cit- ies, towns, and counties should pay teachers' salaries. It is un- fair to believe that pressure for higher teachers' salaries is com- ing from the teachers them- selves. Firm Ready To Start On Parking Lot

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan told the Mayor and Council Monday that the Minute Parking, Inc., firm is ready to proceed at any time on a "pigeon hole" parking structure here.

Keegan said he has been informed the structure could be amortized over a 25-year period and that "the city stands to realize a profit."

Two letters in regard to the proposed project were read into the record. One from Charles Chatkin of the Minute Parking firm, said it recommended one of two sites—The Charles E. Holzshu property at the corner of Bedford and North Centre streets or the present site of Central Fire Station. It said the Fire Station appeals because of the limited loss of tax revenues. The Holzshu property has the advantage of allowing considerable more parking stalls.

Another letter from D. E. McDowell, representative of the firm, in which he reviewed meetings with Keegan, other city officials and local businessmen, noted that a six-story building on the Holzshu property would accommodate approximately 240 cars.

He said a third site, east of Centre Street toward the B&O Railroad is also good, provided the cost is not too high or the loss of tax revenue too great.

World's first indoor intercollegiate relay carnival was held at the University of Illinois in 1917.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, March 7 (INS)—Veteran newsman Albert Stevens Crockett's recent note to this desk, on the lost origin of a sometimes dangerous indigenous sport—the cocktail and its uses—has brought forth several responses.

Karl Wittrich quotes the current Mercury and an article by Thomas P. Ramirez on this mystery, one that rates in some circles with the origin of the Basque language. I quote:

"One afternoon, in the 1800's, a man entered the establishment of a New Orleans druggist named Peychaud. He wasn't well and Peychaud decided that the best prescription for his condition would be a shot of brandy and bitters. Having nothing handy to serve it in, he used an egg cup that he usually mixed other prescriptions in.

"An egg cup of the type Peychaud used is called a coquetier and pronounced 'kok-tay.' The demand for the drink grew. Cafes hurry to cash in on the new fad, advertised the koktyays with window signs and featured them on menus. Eventually coquetier was corrupted and became cocktail."

(Ed. note: And, in turn, corrupted many a hardy soul.)

Phyllis Sprieser writes: "Your item brought back a story I have in my Spanish language book, 'Spanish Review.' It states 'cocktail is derived from cola de gallo (tail of the cock). People of Campeche (Mexican port of Yucatan Peninsula) were the first to use the name and the drink."

"At the end of the 17th century tavernkeepers of Campeche used to prepare a mixture of brandy and syrup which was well liked. In order to mix it they tried first a small spoon of iron, but the metal gave the drink a bad taste. So they tried a wooden spoon. A small piece of shrubbery or wood and finally a root of a plant which resembled a cock's tail. The customers began to ask for a 'tail of the cock.' British sailors who frequented the port of Campeche translated into English the picturesque term. So you see the famous—or infamous—American cocktail is, in reality, a Mexican drink."

(Ed. note: Give it back to them.)

The esteemed Wilfred Funk touched on the practices of Peychaud, whom he identifies as a bartender rather than a druggist (sometimes a division of transparent slenderness) and goes on to wit:

"There was once in England a poisonous mixture devised of stale beer or ale, blended with gin, herbs, bread and flour that was said to keep fighting cocks in trim. It could also be drunk, minus the flour, by human beings, and was called cock-bread ale, or cockale, from which the transition to cocktail could have been easy."

"In the early heyday of the Hudson Valley (another story goes), near Yonkers in New York State, there was an old tavern owned by one William Van Eyck. Two things above all others were dear to his heart: His fighting cock 'Lightning,' and his daughter, Mistress Peggy."

"Peggy's heart succumbed at last to the charms of one Master Appleton, a mate of the clipper ship 'Ranger.' But Peg's father was in the background, and so, before young Appleton approached the old gentleman, Peggy shook up a spot of a fancy drink whose formula was a carefully

Four Local Youths Will Be Inducted

Four local youths will leave for induction into the armed forces on March 14.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator for the local Selective Service Board, announced yesterday that three men will leave from Board 29 and one from Board 27.

The youths will report to the local Post Office at 6:05 a. m., and leave for Fairmont, W. Va., via Greyhound Bus.

Vote On Bond Issue Sought

The people of Cumberland may have a chance to vote on the Mayor and Council 40 days after the passage of the ordinance providing for a bond issue.

After the names are checked for authenticity, the Mayor and Council may either call for an election referendum within 60 days or set the vote on the issue at the next regular election.

The Mayor and Council on February 25 passed the ordinance calling for the $500,000 bond issue. If there are not a sufficient number of names on the petitions, the ordinance will become effective on April 16.

Petitions to get 20 per cent of the city's 12,740 qualified voters signed up asking for a referendum began to be circulated in Cumberland Wednesday.

If 2,548 Cumberland voters sign the petitions, it will mark the second time a vote has been called for in connection with the Cumberland Thruway.

Two years ago enough names were obtained to qualify for a referendum on the Thruway, but the vote was never held as the matter was settled in a case that went to the Court of Appeals. Those petitions are still on file.

The $500,000 is not earmarked for any project, but the intent is to use part of its for Thruway financial obligations entailed by the City of Cumberland in its contract with the State Roads Commission.

Repaired Street Sweeper Ready For New Schedule

William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, yesterday announced that the city's street sweeper is being readied for operation.

The sweeper, he pointed out, has been out of commission for about seven weeks awaiting arrival of a shaft necessary for its operation. The shaft arrived Wednesday, he continued, and was placed in the sweeper. Several runs will be necessary so that proper adjustments may be made before it is placed in operation, Buchholtz said.

Expressing concern that the sweeper broke down during the biggest construction program in the history of the city, Commissioner Buchholtz said the streets are in a "deplorable condition." He asked that residents cooperate in the street cleaning program—which will be placed on a 24-hour basis within a few days. So that the sweeper can do its most efficient work, Buchholtz said the streets must be cleared of parked cars on the specified days in the various sections of town. The Police Department has been asked to cooperate in this phase of the program, Buchholtz said.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn and Lt. Raymond R. Johnston of the City Traffic Bureau indicated they would give the assistance requested.

The street cleaning program will be divided into two phases, Commissioner Buchholtz said. The one which will be in operation from 3 to 11 p. m. follows:

Monday — South Cumberland, west of Virginia Avenue, Winow Street and all streets below the Virginia Avenue subway.

Tuesday — South Cumberland, east of Virginia Avenue, Maple side and Hill Top Drive.

Wednesday — Williams Street and all streets between Park and Maryland Avenue, Baltimore Avenue, Bedford and Frederick streets and North Cumberland.

Thursday — West Side north of Washington to Greene Street.

Friday — West Side, Greene Street and all streets south, and Kelly Boulevard.

This phase will be changed to be in operation from 7 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. at approximately April 1 when the department will begin working summer hours, Buchholtz said.

The 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. operation for the sweeper will be:

Monday — all streets between the Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland Railway tracks from Kearney Street to the west end of Mechanic Street, and on Greene Street to the Fire House.

Tuesday — business section between Market and Harrison streets, Henderson Avenue, Polk and Decatur streets and all streets between the latter two.

Wednesday — same as Tuesday.

Thursday — business section between Market and Harrison streets.

Friday — same as Tuesday.

Boiler Installed By Potomac Edison

A new steam boiler was placed in operation the first of this month in the Potomac Edison Company's Cumberland steam heating plant on Dexter Place.

Henry W. Price, Cumberland District manager, said the project also included the erection of a new stack and the installation of a double retort stoker.

The plant is large enough to furnish all the steam customers of the PE in the downtown business district.

The project called for the expenditure of $60,000.

Local Man Held On Larceny Count

Joseph William Thomas, 25, of 107 Ashley Street, is being held in Allegany County Jail on $1,000 bond for action of the April term of Circuit Court on a charge of stealing $124 from his father-in-law.

The state prayed a jury trial at a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court and Magistrate J. Milton Dick set bond on the grand larceny count.

Authorities said Thomas is accused of taking the money from the home of his father-in-law, Dorn Brinkman, to finance a trip to Florida last February 14.

The bidding:

East 1 diamond 1 heart 3 hearts 4 hearts

Pass Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Jack of diamonds.

The proper defense to squeeze play is a subject that has received small attention from bridge writers. Perhaps this is because a potential squeeze is difficult to diagnose. East, in today's hand from a recent tournament, saw what was coming and took proper measures to protect himself.

The first round of bidding was normal. South decided to invite a game by jumping in hearts. That North had the values to accept the invitation is unquestioned, but in view of his diamond holding, perhaps he should have tried three no trump. It will be observable that this contract was impregnable. However, influenced by his weakness in clubs, he went on to four hearts instead.

The jack of diamonds was opened, covered by the king and ace, and three rounds of the suit were cashed.

Most Easts, in routine manner, continued with the king of clubs. Declarer had before him nine running tricks, but prospects for the 10th were not very bright.

East is known to hold the queen of clubs, and if he also has the queen and jack of spades, he could be squeezed into surrendering a 10th trick. Declarer therefore led all his trumps, coming down to a spade and the jack, small of clubs.

Dummy was reduced to three spades, and East, holding the queen of clubs and the queen-jack-four of spades, had one discard yet to make. In the hope that West had the jack of clubs, he let go the queen, and declarer had his 10th trick.

At one table, East came up with a thoughtful defensive play. On the bidding he marked declarer with six hearts and the ace of clubs, which, with dummy's top spades, brought the total to nine.

If declarer held the jack of clubs and two spades, East saw that he would be unable to defend, but if declarer had only one spade, defeat of the contract could be assured by returning the queen of that suit. This would sever connection between the two hands and make it impossible to execute a squeeze.

When the spade came back, declarer won with the king in dummy, and while he could get rid of one of his clubs on the ace of spades, he could not avoid the loss of the other.

WE can tell you about the . . . MODERN FOOD PLAN

*Mrs. Henry Adams

Walnut Place

I have seven in my family, and considering gasoline and trouble running to the market, I would say I save on the average of $20.00 per week. I have had my freezer four months. Within that time I have ordered twice. One order was for $16.00 and my order last week, which will do me for a month and a half, was $28.00. I certainly am satisfied with the plan, I don't know how I did without it.

*Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Bosley

Yes we find an extra convenience in our home. It saves time for getting meals. Well, in cold packing it's kind of hard to put it up in the cans, but you usually have to leave it boil in water about three hours . . . and you get it ready for freezing in about forty-five seconds. We believe the outstanding convenience is that you can put your finger on anything you want at any time.

Youth Accused In Robbery

A New York youth has been implicated in the robbery of Mason's Jug Store, Williams Street, on the night of November 17.

Lt. James E. Van of the Cumberland Police Department yesterday obtained a warrant and detainer for the youth who has been identified as the person who robbed the store of approximately $120 in cash.

Lt. Van said the youth was working in the Cumberland area at the time of the robbery, and is an inmate at the Elmira (N. Y.) Reformatory for Males.

The youth was admitted to the institution last month in violation of his parole. He had been released from the reformatory in July 1956.

The youth was identified by Mrs. Marie Imes, 924 Maryland Avenue, who was operating the store at the time of the robbery.

After receiving a tip from a local resident, Lt. Van sent information to New York authorities, who in turn sent a picture of the youth to Van. Yesterday Mrs. Imes identified the photo.

The culprit walked into the store, with his hand in his pocket, and ordered Mrs. Imes to put all the money in a paper bag. The loot included two $10 bills, seven $5 bills, $25 in $1 notes and an unknown amount of change.

Lt. Van said it is not known if the youth was armed.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — On Washington's Birthday, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in a speech at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, warned that the Communist Party of the United States has not changed in character or purpose. He asserted that its new look and program "are designed to enable the American Communists to regroup and develop a militant party to accomplish their historic mission of destroying American freedom . . . They will resort to every time-proven Communist trick to deceive the American public by advocating a peaceful transition to Socialism . . . by appealing to the masses with trumped-up charges of injustice . . . by seeking to build a broad coalition of Socialist forces . . . by recapturing the naive . . . by mobilizing the 'pseudo-liberals.'"

Three days later, February 25, Senator Knowland of California, a member of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, charged that Soviet Russia rulers were bent on "total suppression" of human liberties. Answering later-day Soviet charges of American-inspired "subversion" behind the iron curtain, the distinguished minority leader in the Senate outlined the following 10-point indictment of Russia, predicated upon acts of aggression in the last 20 years: "The Soviet Union has denied legitimate aspirations of the peoples of Eastern Europe for national independence . . . It has denied to these peoples basic human freedom recognized in the UN charter . . . It has imposed puppet governments and used its armed forces to keep them in power . . . It has plundered the economies of these countries . . . It converted the Baltic republics into Soviet provinces in violation of friendship and non-aggression treaties . . . It has built up large satellite armed forces staffed by Soviet officers . . . It has cut off captive peoples from the free world by monopolizing all channels of communication . . . It has filled newspapers and school books of Eastern Europe with 'hate America' slogans . . . It has persecuted churches and intimidated and harassed those who worship God . . . And it has erected physical barriers against escape, including barbed wire, mine fields, and lookout towers."

This indictment of the Communist conspiracy by two able spokesmen in the cause of liberty and freedom come at a time when tensions in the world could not be more delicate. Mr. Hoover's words are well-chosen. "Communism is doomed ultimately to fall, because it is anti-God and denies the dignity of man . . . The fall of world-wide communism will come only when the world, both the free and the enslaved, resolves that this heartless dictatorship shall end."

Legal Defenders For The Indigent

Attorney General Herbert Brownell is recommending new legislation to allow federal district courts to appoint public defenders as counsel for persons who cannot afford to hire lawyers. The activities of these federal public defenders would supplement but not conflict with the work of public defenders in state, county, and city jurisdictions.

Legal Aid Societies provide free legal services in certain circumstances in many areas, and in many jurisdictions courts assign paid or voluntary counsel to the indigent. Shortly after the Bill of Rights came into force in 1791 Congress provided for the assignment of counsel by federal courts, and assignment is now sanctioned by law or judicial decision in all states. But Attorney General Brownell terms the counsel assignment system outmoded. In a letter to Vice President Nixon on February 11 he proposed a federal public defender bill to "give real meaning to the Sixth Amendment." This provides: "In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right . . . to have the assistance of counsel for his defense."

Brownell proposes that federal public defenders be appointed by federal district court judges at salaries up to $10,000 a year. In districts where a full-time public defender is not needed, part-time counsel could be appointed at the rate of $35 a day, the total not to exceed $5,000 a year. These provisions are carried in a bill introduced by Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee.

According to the National Legal Aid Association, public defender systems are in operation in 19 California counties and municipalities. Connecticut has seven municipal public defender systems and one voluntary system. Of the 102 counties in Illinois, 27 have public defender systems, as does Dade County in Florida. Cities with such systems include Boston and Cambridge, Mass.; St. Paul, Minn.; St. Louis, Mo.; Omaha, Neb.; New York and Rochester (voluntary); Cincinnati (voluntary) and Columbus, Ohio; Oklahoma City and Tulsa; Philadelphia and Pittsburgh (both voluntary); Providence, R. I.; and Memphis, Tenn.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Why Not Work?

We had a near riot here in New York for a day or two when mobs of children gathered on Washington's birthday, fittingly clothed in blue jeans and black leather jackets, to enter a movie house to hear some rock-n-roll. They danced in the aisles; they smooched in their seats; they banged their feet until the fire department and building inspectors had to clear part of the balconies to prevent a calamity.

Is the answer that these children should not be sent to school any more because they have reached a point when they cannot learn anything and cannot be disciplined at school, but would be wholesome, normal human beings if they were permitted by law to earn a living and were required by their parents to pay for their board and lodging? Are we not being too arbitrary about how long children must remain children; is not the law at variance with biologic growth and change? Are we not really creating discontent by keeping a boy at parties when he should be operating a machine? Are not some of our youngsters forced to become juvenile delinquents, as the social workers like to call them, because they are bored and the desire for adventure takes the wrong road?

When I was a boy lots of us worked from the time we could to earn something. We were bootblacks, newspaper vendors, office boys, public library helpers and what not.

Now at 14, a child may work in some states during vacations and after school hours; in many states, not at all, except for their parents or at farm work. In some states, it is permissible to take factory jobs at 16; in other states at 18. Few unions permit apprentices to learn a trade early enough; and some unions have no apprenticeship systems. Some municipalities have trade high schools; many do not.

Under social conditions now obtaining in the United States, for those boys and girls who do not plan to go to college, 18 is a late age to start learning how to earn a living, in view of the fact that most of them will be drafted for the military. These boys and girls are sex-conscious earlier than 18 and the boys want pocket money, beyond what their parents can give them, so that they can take their steadies out for a good time.

If the kids could earn a few dollars a week, they could have their good times normally and as compensation for work. A law forbidding a girl under 18 from working after 7 p. m. is as antiquated as anticancer. What do kids of 16 and 17 who hate homework usually do after 7 p. m.? Do all of them sit at home watching T.V. and listening to daddy tell mommy for the millionth time what a great man he would have been if he had the breaks? The likelihood is that that girl and her steady boy like likelihood somewhere to talk about themselves and about how they could be wonderful if only they had the dough. If enough of them get together, it is a gang. And if a gang has nothing else to do, it gets into a fight and robs a candy store.

Life is really simple if it were not made so complicated by those who want to make a perfect society here and now and fast. There are lots of essentially decent children who do not care whether a French verb is regular or irregular but who want a job, want to marry early and who, if they survive military service, will probably stay married and will probably turn out to be upright working-class citizens.

Their difficulty is that while the boy wants to be a great monkey in a garage or an electrician, he is asked to sit in a classroom in front of a kid's desk reading "Silas Marner" which can be a pain in the neck; and the girl would rather be a waitress or a salesgirl or a manicurist than listen to a teacher explain that Unesco is not a disease like polio. So the girl is all the time thinking of Jake and if he bust a finger, maybe he could not go to war and they could get married.

Let these kids work and grow up as normal human beings.

'I Knew I Had It Here Somewhere'

Moral Force As A Weapon To 'Enforce' Peace

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Once upon a time a former President of the United States, William Howard Taft, Republican, proposed that there be established a league to enforce peace. This was during World War I. Subsequently the League of Nations was created. But it did not "enforce" peace, and World War II followed.

Today the United Nations is struggling with the same problem — how to "enforce" peace.

There are three ways of doing it — by military force, by economic force, and by moral force.

A Soviet veto can prevent military force from being ordered by the United Nations Security Council. The U.N. Assembly itself cannot order any military measures to be used to "enforce" peace. Only the major powers acting collectively can take effective military action, and they can do so on their own, with perhaps a resolution of recommendation from the U.N. Assembly to give it moral backing.

Sanctions And Vetoes

Economic force can be exerted by the U.N. only through the Security Council, and the Soviets have a veto on this, too. Individual nations, however, can join together and impose "sanctions" or punitive measures of an economic nature, but the U.N. Assembly cannot order these steps.

Moral force is the only force which needs no previous approval by the Security Council and which can be utilized by the U.N. Assembly or by the individual member nations in the Assembly acting collectively or in groups and blocs.

It is moral force which is winning battles in the world today. It is moral force which is "enforcing" peace in the Middle East, though back of it may be the awareness that military force and war could be the consequence of a failure of moral force to be successful.

Criticism of the failure of the U.N. to exert moral force in the past is necessary and desirable.

To attempt, for instance, to squelch expressions by Senator Knowland, Republican, or Senator Humphrey, Democrat, who are members of the U.S. Delegation to the United Nations — but who also have a right to speak in their capacity as individual Senators on matters of foreign policy — is to discourage the process of constructive criticism which helps so much to build the moral force of the United Nations itself.

Certainly in the United States, where the Congress is a coordinate branch of the government, it is most helpful to send delegations to the U.N. which comprise members of both Houses. If these Senators or Representatives were to be gagged or to be made to feel that, by becoming a part of the U.S. Delegation to the U.N., they must refrain from expressing outside the U.N. sessions their own opinions, it will be difficult in the future to get members of Congress to serve on the U.S. Delegation.

Moral force is dependent on public opinion not only in this country but throughout the world. Moral force means free debate of all the issues.

Moral force at the moment makes it incumbent on Egypt to determine whether her government will find any more pretexts to hold up work on the reopening of the Suez Canal and thus risk the condemnation of the United States and the other countries which have just striven so earnestly to persuade British, French and Israeli troops to withdraw from the areas they invaded last October.

The American government is placing its reliance on both Egypt and Israeli to keep the peace in the Middle East. But this does not mean that the settlement which President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles successfully persuaded Israel to accept can be regarded now as the final chapter in the controversy. In a sense, the work of "enforcing" peace in the Middle East has only begun. There are economic aids which can help to stabilize all the countries of the Middle East that need help, and there are disputed legal points, like the right of navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba, which, as Mr. Dulles suggests, may have to be left to the World Court at the Hague to decide.

In the meantime, however, the American position is that there must be uninterrupted access to the ships of all nations not only in the Gulf of Aqaba but in the Suez Canal till any legal points are finally resolved by a court of justice — unless, of course, direct negotiation can do the job more quickly.

Courage And Brickbats
Moral force calls for the orderly way — the civilized way. It is the willingness of the President and the Secretary of State here to bear tolerantly the brickbats that came to them from the British and French press last autumn, and yet fearlessly champion moral force, which stands out as a great step forward in the world today.

Comparable, too, is the courage of Prime Minister Ben-Gurion of Israel in daring to risk so much in placing his reliance on moral force even though it earned him inside Israel bitter political opposition and possible downfall of his regime. For Ben-Gurion is relying on the good faith and moral position of the United States government to help him secure justice in the current disputes when they are debated in the court of world opinion.

Moral force is effective when it is applied on the side of not just who is right but what is right. It is a great advance in the long search for a way to "enforce" peace.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Far-flung reader from Toss-burgh wants to know if Russia's fill-in Foreign Minister is Gromyko the walking man.

That harkles back to the sixth great Lake Success on Long Island. It was there Gromyko started his parliamentary prowling on the left diagonal.

If Gromyko didn't like the tempest in the ear-phones he took his foot in his hand. And away he went.

But long before Gromyko walked out of the U. N. this writer walked out on him. With the saloons closing at midnight I had a deadline to make.

It must be the original Gromyko. Things like that don't happen twice.

Reason I jumped the mumble ranch was I saw Gromyko could block everything like egg-shells in a drain. He was always headed for the hospitable exit.

The pedestrian plenipotentiary sprung himself offener than a frog on a trampoline.

Gromyko of United Nations is Gromyko of Moscow. The wheel has come full circle because there's no brakes to stop it.

Battle Against Heart Disease Is Continuing

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How much higher will our life expectancy go when we learn how to prevent all forms of heart disease and malignant tumors? Your guess is as good as mine but some authorities doubt that conquest of these killers will send our life expectancy over the 75 or 80 year mark. The majority of people who die late in life from either of these causes also harbor other diseases that would have killed them had they survived cancer or a heart attack.

Today's research on heart disease is concerned largely with prevention. Years ago we always had four or five patients with syphilitic heart disease on my ward at Cook County hospital. I doubt if there are one or two in the entire hospital right now. Syphilis is treated in its early stages long before the infection has a chance to invade the heart. This is a good example of preventive medicine.

Rheumatic heart disease is the most prevalent cardiac condition up to age 40. It is caused by rheumatic fever, which scars the heart valves. Rheumatic fever is preceded by a streptococcal sore throat. Two or three weeks later the patient develops fever, painful joints, fatigue, and other findings of the disease.

Streptococci have disappeared from the throat by then but they leave their calling card in the form of protective antibodies in the blood. No one knows whether a relationship exists between these antibodies and rheumatic fever but there are many theories.

Some physicians believe the antibodies are toxic; others, that rheumatic fever ensues because the individual is overly sensitive to these substances in the blood. If an antibiotic is given during the strep attack, rheumatic fever is prevented. But we need a better prophylaxis because it is not practical for everyone to take these products.

Arteriosclerotic heart disease is the No. 1 killer after age 40. Most victims die of coronary thrombosis. Prevention of hardening of the arteries is within the realm of possibility. Many causes contribute to the process, varying from fats in the diet to heredity. The latter will be difficult to control because we cannot get a new set of grandparents.

Other facets to the cardiac problem include everyday stress and strain and our ability to control undesirable emotion. Success in this field will lead to more enjoyable living and will go a long way toward adding zest to those anticipated extra years.

Democrats Fail To Make Good Their Campaign Promises To Businessmen

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Democrats made a big hurrah about helping small business during the recent election campaign. Now, however, they are coming up with a nice fat zero.

The Republicans, it's true, also made a lot of noise about helping small business, and Sherman Adams told the Smaller Business Association of New England that tax relief definitely would be forthcoming if Ike were re-elected. Now the administration is vigorously opposing this and all tax cuts.

However, let's see what the Democrats, who yelled the loudest, did about small business.

Very quietly, and in one single morning, the Democratic leadership rushed the existing tax bill on corporation profits through the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles taxes.

No effort was made by either party to reduce the tax on small business. No small-business witnesses were heard. The speed was such as to arouse suspicion. Afterward, the tax bill was given a gag rule by the Rules Committee, which means that it cannot be amended on the floor of the House. No Congressman can propose a lower tax for small business and get it voted on.

Why The Rush?

Officially, the rush was justified by the fact that the tax bill expires March 31. It contains excise taxes as well as corporate taxes, and there cannot be even one day's lapse in the machinery of collecting excise taxes.

However, here is the very significant development regarding the tax bill after it was rammed through the Ways and Means Committee. At first it was sent to the full House for action during the week of February 18. Then suddenly it was withdrawn. It is now being held in abeyance until a few days before the taxes are due to expire on March 31. The reason is complicated but important. In brief, it smacks of oil.

In Capitol cloakrooms it's admitted the House Democratic leadership is fearful that the Senate will pass a reduction of the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. This is the big tax bonanza which permits oil men to have the most favored tax position in the USA; and, incidentally, also permits them to throw all kinds of money into election campaigns.

Seldom has public opinion been so irate against the oil companies as right now. So Democratic leaders, one of them coming from oil-rich Texas, another from oil-rich Oklahoma, have held up the tax bill. They know the Senate is always slow.

Therefore, House leaders intend to pass the tax bill at the last minute, then send it to the Senate. In the few hours or days before March 31 they know the Senate won't have time to add any amendments hurting oil.

NOTE—Speaker Sam Rayburn has pushed more legislation through the House favoring humanitarian causes than any single living American. So he can be forgiven for bowing three times in the direction of oil when oil legislation peaks even remotely over the edge of the Capitol dome. After all, he's from Texas. Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma is a Democratic whip.

Fulbright Struggles

Meanwhile, Sen. Bill Fulbright, Democrat of Arkansas, is carrying out the Democratic platform by offering an amendment reducing taxes on small corporations and increasing them slightly on giant firms, such as General Motors, which dominate the American economy. This, he contends, would get around the White House argument that the Treasury can't afford loss of tax revenue.

Thirty-two Senators are supporting Fulbright's amendment. But he can't get Sen. Harry Byrd, of Virginia, biggest apple grower in the world and no friend of small business, even to hold hearings. Byrd is Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and he has ignored all of Fulbright's requests for hearings.

In the House, Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana, Texas, staunch friend of little business, has proposed a similar tax reduction for small business, but he has already been thwarted by the Ways and Means Committee's ramrod action.

So even if the 32 Senators supporting Fulbright should get a small business tax relief amendment through the Senate, they will come up against astute Democratic leaders in the House determined to permit no change in the tax bill.

NOTE—House Republicans are equally strong against any concession to small business, and so are a majority of Republican Senators.

Backstage With Diplomats

The expansive bosom of Nicaraguan Ambassador Bill Sacasa is going to swell a bit more, shortly. With the exit of much-loved Norwegian Ambassador Morgenstjerne, the envoy of the turbulent, tiny Central American dictatorship becomes dean of the Washington diplomatic corps. The genial Sacasa is one envoy who got his job via the bloody hands of a bloody father-in-law — President Somoza, now assassinated. Somoza was a sergeant whom the U. S. Marines trained so well that he took over the presidency of Nicaragua for years.

When Brazilian envoy to the Pan American Union Fernando Lobo went to Nashville to pay tribute to Cordell Hull for the good neighbor policy, he knew better. Lobo knew that the real founder of the good neighbor policy was Sumner Welles, who sold it to FDR in 1932, inserted it in the Democratic platform at the Chicago 1932 convention, and later carried it out as Undersecretary of State . . . One of the reasons Cordell Hull has got credit for the good neighbor policy is that he was smart enough to hire an expert newsman, able Andrew Berding, to write his memoirs. Jim Hagerty has now been smart enough to transfer Berding over to the State Department to improve John Foster Dulles's shaky press relations. Berding will become Assistant Secretary of State.

Frozen Vegetables Add Spark To Lenten Menus

With spring the planting time frozen corn is not cooked before for many favorite vegetables, it goes into the oven—neither is the season to enjoy the frozen it defrosted first. Let it bake vegetables, as their natural flav- with the extra seasonings as you are especially appreciated at prepare your favorite baked fish or frozen ready-to-cook filets or steaks.

Frozen vegetables are delicious touched up with butter or margarine, but serve them other ways as well. And remember that they retain their garden-fresh high nutritional value to a remarkable degree. Some of the B vitamins your family members of all ages need are in the frozen corn of the Baked Hot Corn Relish recipe below. And, besides B vitamins, there are vitamins A and C in the frozen and spinach of the Spinach Rice Squares as a "cake" for fish corn in package, strike the package sharply against a kitchen surface. This second recipe brings you a new "cake" for seafood short-cake. These Spinach Rice Squares will be good during Lent with creamed seafood—then in summer and fall with creamed chicken. The frozen chopped spinach in this recipe is cooked by baking in the oven just as the corn is in the recipe described above—however, the chopped spinach must be defrosted so that it combines well with the other ingredients. Remove the package from frozen storage and let it defrost in the refrigerator approximately six hours or at room temperature about two hours.

Spinach Rice Squares

1 package frozen chopped spinach, defrosted
3 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon thyme
1 1/2 cups hot milk
3 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Start oven heating at 350° F. Have spinach defrosted by removing package from freezer to stand at room temperature approximately 2 hours or to stand in refrigerator approximately 6 hours. Combine rice with onion, pimiento, salt, and thyme. Pour hot milk slowly into beaten eggs while stirring constantly. Add Worcestershire sauce to milk and eggs, then fold rice and spinach into it. Turn into greased shallow baking dish (8 1/4 x 8 1/4 x 2"). Bake in moderate oven at 350° F. approximately 55 minutes or until firm and lightly browned. To serve, cut in squares and top each square with creamed fish or chicken. Makes 6 generous servings. If desired, bake in 6 greased ring molds and serve creamed fish in the center.

Surprise Youngsters With Ticktacktoe Kraut, Franks

Here's a kraut and frankfurter casserole that will thrill the youngsters. It's garnished so it looks just like a game of ticktacktoe. Frankfurter slices and pimiento strips make the zeros and crosses. Hearty and completely satisfying, kraut and frankfurters add up to a most enjoyable meal for small fry.

Mothers appreciate the fact that when they serve kraut to their youngsters they're not only giving them something they like tremendously, but they're also insuring their good health because kraut is so nutritious. It's rich in calcium and phosphorus and the B vitamins as well as vitamin C.

Ticktacktoe Kraut and Frankfurters

Combine remaining sliced frankfurters, kraut, chopped pimiento, mustard, and butter or margarine; toss lightly and turn into lightly greased 8-inch square baking dish. Cut remaining 2 frankfurters in half lengthwise; slash lengthwise without cutting through bottom. Arrange over kraut mixture in lattice fashion. Place remaining 3 frankfurter slices and pimiento strips in ticktacktoe fashion over kraut mixture. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375°) 30 minutes, or until thoroughly heated.

Season to taste with freshly ground pepper. Turn potato-salad mixture into the center of a lightly greased 2-quart casserole. Drain sauerkraut and reserve sauerkraut juice for salad dressing. Arrange kraut on top of potato salad in border around the edge. Place frankfurter pieces on top of kraut.

Combine sugar, vinegar, sauerkraut juice drained from can and bacon drippings. Heat to boiling point over medium heat. Add a little of hot mixture to beaten eggs; add egg mixture to remaining hot mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened, 3 to 5 minutes. Pour hot salad dressing over contents of casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 30 to 40 minutes.

Flavored Waffles 'Round The Clock

No doubt a waffle by any name would taste as sweet. You need not tamper with the name, however, to alter the flavor. In fact, by taking advantage of evaporated milk to make your waffles, you can flavor them to suit any meal of the day.

Use your regular waffle mix and make only one simple change. Instead of the liquid called for in the recipe use evaporated milk for half the quantity and play with the other half to add flavor. In this way, you get the usual quota of nutrients since evaporated milk is double-strength whole milk, and you get custom-tailored waffles for breakfast, lunch or dinner.

Orange waffles, for instance, can be easily made by combining evaporated milk and orange juice in equal quantities for the amount of liquid your waffle mix recipe demands. Add about a tablespoon of orange rind to intensify the flavor and proceed as usual. These waffles are equally attractive as the mainstay of breakfast or dessert at a later meal, and may be topped either with syrup or orange sauce.

If you want more ideas, here they are. Try chicken herb waffles as base for chicken ala king at luncheon, or chocolate waffles topped with vanilla ice cream and any sauce you like as a party dessert. Go one from there and invent your own: now that you know the basic idea, the sky's the limit.

Flavored Waffles

Substitute evaporated milk for 1/2 of the liquid of the liquid called for in your favorite waffle recipe, or packaged pancake or waffle mix. For remaining 1/2 of the liquid substitute one of the following:

Chicken Waffles: Substitute chicken broth or bouillon cube dissolved in hot water for 1/2 of the liquid. Serve with chicken ala king.

Chocolate Waffles: Add 1/2 cup instant cocoa powder to dry ingredients; substitute water for 1/2 of the liquid. Serve with vanilla ice cream and peanut butter sauce.

Orange Waffles: Substitute orange juice for 1/2 of the liquid; stir in 1 tablespoon grated orange rind. Serve with cottage cheese and orange sauce.

Fancy Butter Pats

Here's a trick to try, if you've admired the pretty butter pats despised of ever learning to manage the molds that usually are required.

With some of the new types of miniature cookie cutters, you can make your own attractive designs easily. Use firm, but not hard butter in 1 inch squares, cut about 1/2-inch thick, and cut out attractive shapes with cutters. Chill before serving. Two butter designs are about right per serving.

Place scraps of butter that are left in a small container, and use in saucing hot vegetables or in sandwich making.

Try This Tomato Surprise!

Scoop out insides of a plump tomato. Then sprinkle the inside with a thin layer of Sterling Salt. Invert tomato shell and drain. Salt draws out the excess moisture, leaves shell firm. Fill with cottage cheese, or mixed cottage cheese and sour cream. Garnish and serve. You add extra zest and sparkle to any dish with Sterling Salt's pure, snow-white "sparks of flavor." Plain or Iodized. Damp proof.

BEEF ARM POT-ROAST

Two Meals for a Family of Four

For a family of four you will want an arm pot-roast that weighs from 4 to 5 pounds.

1. Cut through natural dividing seam a to b then through meat from b to c to separate meaty piece (1) from arm pot-roast.
2. Either leave (1) in one piece or split it into two thinner steaks by cutting from d to e.
3. Cut from f to g to remove rib section (2) from arm pot-roast. Then remove arm bone (3). The bones may be used for soup.
4. Fashion piece (2) into a boneless roll and fasten with a skewer or tie with string.

SWISS STEAKS
As indicated in step number 2 this section may be used as one thick Swiss steak or two thinner ones.

BONELESS POT-ROAST
Will make four easily carved servings.

Parmesan and omitting the egg yolks.
For fish, cream sauces go on forever. Finely chopped cucumber, simmered briefly in the sauce, imparts a subtle, elusive aroma. Capers and lemon juice, on the other hand produce a lively effect appropriate with the blandness of boiled fish—or veal for that matter. Anchovies and hard-boiled eggs are another possibility to add to cream sauce for fish, as are onions, a little white wine and herbs like tarragon and chervil.

The last-mentioned combination does nicely for poultry, too. Add lemon juice without the capers to your cream sauce for a special dressing to adorn sauteed chicken. In this instance, you start the sauce with brown pan scrapings left from cooking the chicken itself. For a grand poultry occasion, add pureed chestnuts to cream sauce and season it with nutmeg and a dash of cayenne.

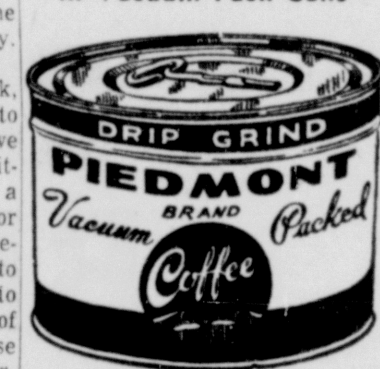

Let us not overlook meats. A mushroom cream sauce is an ideal companion for sweetbreads, while cream sauce liberally seasoned with paprika just as ideally suits veal. For sturdier meats, stronger sauces. A discreet quantity of horseradish and a dash of mustard equip cream sauce to join corned beef. A bit more mustard and no horseradish is a good variation for tongue.

As we said before, we can only hint at the inviting possibilities. Never mind the cookbooks—let your imagination take over and the chances are you won't go wrong. Cream sauce made with evaporated milk is a perfect jumping off place for flights of creative fancy in the kitchen.

Cream Sauce
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 teaspoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 small can (1/2 cup) evaporated milk
1/2 cup water
Melt butter; blend in flour and salt. Combine evaporated milk and water. Gradually add milk mixture and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil.
YIELD: 1 cup.

Anchovy Egg Sauce
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 teaspoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup water
2 teaspoons anchovy paste
2 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
Chopped parsley
Melt butter; blend in flour and salt. Combine evaporated milk and water. Gradually add milk mixture and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil.
YIELD: 1 cup.

Evaporated Milk Smooths Cream Sauces Of All Kinds

The proverb would have us believe that sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. Fortunately, the choice of sauces is left up to the cook, and herein she may display her greatest prowess. A comprehensive list of sauces for goose, gander or any other food, would summarize the culinary history of the world and its greatest gastronomic triumphs. For there is no doubt that a perfect sauce represents the highest achievement of fine cookery.

Don't take fright at the perils of making beautiful sauces—they need not take hours of time in the kitchen or stacks of dollars spent on ingredients. For example, if you find yourself dealing with cream sauces, as so many of us do, a modern shortcut will save you time and money and yield the most satisfactory results. Try making cream sauce and its dozens of variations with evaporated milk.

Any skepticism you may harbor about the wisdom of choosing evaporated milk for glamorous sauces will quickly vanish the first time you make the experiment. You will discover at once that your sauce is full-bodied and smooth textured, that it contains twice the nourishment of milk but far less calories than cream, that it costs little, and that it takes little time to prepare.

You've thought of adding curry to your cream sauce, of course, to transform it into a bright cloak for lamb, poultry or seafood. You're also familiar with the deservedly renowned Newburg sauce, one of the most celebrated of all cream sauces, which rises to an eminence that even the noble lobster serves respectfully. So Many Changes

But when you stop to think, there are so many changes to ring in on cream sauce that we can only hint at them. Add a little tomato sauce to produce a smooth, flavorful topping for eggs, poached, boiled or in omelet form. Eggs also respond to Mornay sauce: a cream sauce to which egg yolks and a bit of grated Parmesan or Swiss cheese have been added. Actually, Mornay is an almost universal sauce which applies not only to eggs, but to macaroni, spaghetti and all its variations, potatoes, and vegetables, too. You make a different kind of cheese sauce with higher color and a sharper bite by using a hearty Cheddar in place of the

Piewiches Are A Glamorous Variation On Sandwich Theme

In interesting variation on the sandwich theme is the piewich—a new and glamorous way of serving leftovers. Piewiches, which make a wonderful luncheon or supper dish, consist of leftover meat or poultry heated in gravy and served between tender, pre-baked squares of pie crust pre-baked on a pastry sheet. Made with golden shortening, piewich crusts are extra flaky, tender and golden—a wonderful complement to any filling.

Leftover meat from roast chicken, turkey, beef or lamb, briefly heated in leftover gravy, is ideal for making piewiches. If you are long on the meat and short on the gravy, new gravy, especially suited to the roast can be made in jigtime.

Flaky Pastry for 6 Piewiches
2 1/4 cups sifted enriched flour; 1 teaspoon salt; 3/4 cup Fluffo (golden shortening); 5 tablespoons water.

In a mixing bowl combine flour and salt. With a pastry blender or two knives cut in Fluffo (golden shortening) until mixture looks like coarse cornmeal. Sprinkle water over mixture, one tablespoon at a time and mix lightly with a fork until all flour is moistened. With the hands gather dough into a ball and divide in half. On a lightly floured board roll out on half at a time in a large square 1/4 inch thick. Cut into six 4 inch squares. Place squares on baking sheets, prick generously with the tines of a fork and bake in a 425°F. oven for about 15 minutes, or until golden brown. Makes 12 squares.

Piewiches with Wine Gravy
(For cooked turkey or ham)
3 tablespoons Fluffo (golden shortening); 1 tablespoon minced onion; 4 tablespoons flour; 2 cups chicken broth or consommé; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 2 tablespoons sherry; 1 tablespoon chopped parsley; 1/2 cup dry red wine or tomato juice; 1 bay leaf; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon pepper; 1 tablespoon chopped parsley; sliced cooked beef, pork or goose.

In a saucepan melt Fluffo (golden shortening) and in it cook garlic, onion and mushrooms for 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in flour and gradually stir in hot beef bouillon and red wine or tomato juice. Cook, stirring, until gravy is smooth, add bay leaf then cook over low heat for 10 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Stir in salt, pepper and parsley and add cooked meat or goose. Heat the meat in the gravy without letting the gravy boil. Serve between two flaky golden crusts.

Temporary Spatter Catcher For Stove

Place lengths of transparent wrap behind the stove when frying chicken etc. . . practically invisible, this handy wrap will keep grease from spotting the wall covering or painting surface.

Candied Ham Loaf For Spring

Spring is just around the corner but that doesn't stop homemakers from putting a few fresh touches on family and company meals.

Dull appetites become razor-sharp when whetted by this Candied Ham Loaf. Ground meats present many mealtime variations.

An intriguing menu that would complement this Candied Ham Loaf might include mashed sweet potatoes, buttered peas, Waldorf salad, cloverleaf rolls. For dessert you might like to serve a lemon layer cake with coffee or milk.

Ground meat works menu magic in that it has become a top favorite from savory sausage patties for a hearty breakfast to a glamorous meat loaf for a festive dinner party.

Candied Ham Loaf
2 pounds ground ham
1 pound ground beef
2 cups whole wheat bread crumbs
1 cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
Soak bread crumbs in milk. Add eggs. Combine ground ham, ground beef, mustard, salt and bread mixture. Mix well. Mix together brown sugar and cloves and spread in bottom of 5 x 9 inch loaf pan. Pack mixture in pan, bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 1 1/2 hours. Turn upside down to serve. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

Kernel Corn Pancakes

What can be better than Corn Pancakes served piping hot off the griddle? The tiny golden nuggets of whole kernel corn add a flavor and texture that all the family will enjoy.

There is a bountiful supply of extra good quality canned corn at your grocer's this year and these easy-to-do pancakes are a choice way to serve it. Here are morning, noon and evening meal suggestions:

Hearty breakfast: Tomato juice, corn pancakes with butter, canned apple sauce and sausages.
Mom's best luncheon: Corn pancakes with creamed tuna or chicken, crunchy tossed greens and chilled canned peaches or purple plums.

Magician's dinner: Cup o' vegetable soup, corn pancakes with broiled ham, carrot and raisin salad and fruit cocktail on instant pudding.

Kernel Corn Pancakes
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg
1 cup milk
1 cup canned whole kernel corn
1 tablespoon melted butter
Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Mix the slightly beaten egg, milk, corn and butter. Add to the dry ingredients and stir until just blended. Drop by spoonfuls onto a lightly oiled griddle or skillet and cook until brown on each side. Makes ten to twelve pancakes.

Chow Mein Noodles Make Tasty Snacks

While watching TV or catching up on your reading these cold winter evenings there's nothing like munching on crisp, savory tidbits along with rosy apples and juicy pears.

Newest addition to the nibbling family are golden brown, crunchy chow mein noodles. For enjoyable snacking, use this seasoning suggestion for them:
Spread 2 cups chow mein noodles in a shallow baking pan. Melt 2 tablespoons butter and stir in 2 drops hot pepper sauce and 1/4 teaspoon each of soy sauce, celery salt, and onion powder. Pour over noodles, stirring to coat evenly. Heat in a 250 degree oven for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Warm or cold the delicately seasoned noodles are delicious. To keep them crisp for two or three days, they may be stored in a closed container.

Broiled Coffee-Toast

The marriage of tast and coffee is perfect in Broiled Coffee Toast. Mix 1/2 teaspoon instant coffee with 1/4 cup sugar. Cut slices of enriched bread into 1-inch strips and brush all sides of strips with melted butter. Roll strips in coffee-sugar mixture. Place on baking sheet and broil in flour and salt. Add milk slowly until lightly browned on both top and bottom sides—about 2 minutes on each side.

Tops With Kids

A most enchanting dessert for youngsters' parties is candy-ice cream. Crush any of the popular 5 cent bars with flavor appeal for children such as peanut butter filled kind, and fold them into softened vanilla ice cream. Re-freeze ice cream in individual fluted paper cups.

Publicity Unit Abolished By W.Va. Senate

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 7 (AP)—The Senate today abolished the State Industrial and Publicity Commission.

Some of the agency's functions would be transferred to the Conservation Department under a companion bill. Both measures were sent to the governor.

A third bill to complete the legislative purpose of dissolving the commission and dispersing its functions was amended and returned to the House for a vote on the amendments.

The third bill would create a new West Virginia Business Development Authority. It was passed 31-0.

As approved in the Senate, the bill would set up a new seven-member agency named by the governor and include one member from each of the six congressional districts. The seventh member would be the governor. It would have few responsibilities other than promotional.

The Legislature's action to abolish the publicity commission follows a campaign in the administration of Gov. W. C. Marland to promote industrial development.

Paw Paw Church Sets New Record

FSTC Students Hear Talk By Lewyn C. Davis

FROSTBURG — Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of Junior High Schools in Allegany County, was guest speaker Monday afternoon at the weekly conference of student teachers at State Teachers College.

Mr. Davis used as his topic, "The Master Teacher." He pointed out, with many specific examples, that there are many good teachers but very few that can be designated as masters in the art of teaching. "We fail, however," said Mr. Davis, "unless we strive to be the best teacher we possibly can." Mr. Davis then pointed out many of the facts that make for a good teacher.

The junior high student teachers discussed with Mr. Davis many of the problems they have met in their practice work. A number of these problems have been selected for discussion at future meetings.

The conference was attended by student teachers from Garrett and Allegany school practice areas. John M. Dunn and Robert W. Jones were in charge of the meeting.

Dr. James Sensenbaugh, superintendent of schools in Frederick County, will address the group at their next weekly meeting.

Mt. Savage High School Senior Class Is Casting "The Red House Mystery"

MT. SAVAGE—Larry Stowell and Rosalie Femi have been named as character leads in "The Red House Mystery," a three act drama written by A. A. Milne, which will be presented by the senior class of Mt. Savage school on March 28. The play will be produced by R. Blaine Gainer, dramatics director, and his assistant, Rosemarie Houck.

Mr. Milne, a noted English novelist and playwright, is responsible for such famous works as "The Perfect Alibi," "Winnie-the-Pooh," "The Dover Road," and many others. He wrote "The Red House Mystery" in 1921. Only last year was the play adapted by Ruth Sergel for high school production. It is being produced by special arrangements with the Dramatic Publishing Company.

Members of the cast and their roles are: Larry Stowell, owner of the Red House; Rosalie Femi, a matchmaking mother; Mike Karalevich, the owner's brother; Laura Jean House, a party guest; Roger Frankenberg, cousin and secretary to the owner of the Red House; Jane Rizer, another guest; Mary Frances Lee, her mother; James Henckel, an ex-army officer; George Bishields, a young medical student; Martha Ann Lewis, a former actress; James Miller, an amateur detective; Lois Werner and Carol Witte, housemaids; Alphonse Watkins, the housekeeper; James Harden, of the police force; Robert Crowe, a police officer.

Suspense begins to mount in the plot as a ghostly figure delivers a warning of death to the master of "Red House" in the midst of a pleasant summer house party. Although the incident is later revealed as a prank of a guest, the superstitious servants are greatly alarmed.

On the following day a death occurs and the master of the house has vanished. The police analyze the case as suicide, but this conception does not satisfy one of the guests who fancies himself a detective. The identity of the murderer is a secret through three acts of close-packed action and mystery.

Stage managers, Roy Hott and William Pratt, head the production staff. Roberta Lashley and Robert Crowe are in charge of

Maple Festival Coronation Will Top Colorful Program

Keyser Starts Program To Widen Street

KEYSER — Preliminary steps for the widening of North Davis Street from Armstrong to East Piedmont Streets were mapped Tuesday at a regular meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Council ordered the publication for three successive weeks a notice that the widening of the street was being considered. Mayor John C. Freeland said this would give opponents of the plan an opportunity to appear before council and voice their objections before final action is taken.

The proposal would widen the street six feet to 36 feet by taking three feet off each sidewalk. This would entail the removal of utility poles, parking meters, water and gas taps and some trees.

Mayor Freeland said that if the plan is ultimately approved, widening of the two blocks would not start until after the start of the next fiscal year, July 1. The cost of the project was estimated at $13,314.

In other action, council adopted a resolution agreeing to cooperate with the Potomac Valley Soil Conservation District in a flood control and soil conservation project for the New Creek and White's Run watershed.

Activities To Begin April 5

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—Visitors to the Tenth Annual Somerset County Maple Festival, which opens Friday, April 5, will be entertained royally, according to the announcement of Herman E. Basehore, general chairman.

To celebrate its tenth anniversary, festival officials have secured outstanding personalities and entertainers, and the complete program has been revised. Heading the list of entertainers will be Buzz 'n Bill and Joe Negri, nationally famous guitarists.

Buzz Aston, Bill Hinds and Joe Negri will be featured at coronation ceremonies for Pennsylvania's Queen Maple X and the 1957 Maple King, beginning at 1:45 p. m. on April 5. The Buzz 'n Bill team has been an act for the past 12 years on radio and TV.

At KDKA-TV Buzz 'n Bill with the Negri trio held a dinner spot for four years. The present show took a hiatus due to the entrance of film on the station, but Buzz 'n Bill are forming a new format to be announced soon. Joe Negri has just returned from a tour of the country with the Three Suns.

The TV and radio stars will provide entertainment for festival goers from the coronation platform. Buzz 'n Bill will then handle all master of ceremonies duties for the professional, coronation and recessional.

Previous to the coronation program, an outstanding speaker will address those attending the annual opening luncheon in the First Methodist Church. Featured menu will be pancakes with plenty of butter and 100 percent pure Somerset County Maple syrup, plus country-cured sausage and other delectables.

The luncheon is open to the general public and will include Pennsylvania's Queen Maple IX, River, and that the town contact the Tenth Maple Queen-elect, her maids of honor, maple princesses, Western Maryland Railway and its escorts. Farmers, the Monongahela Power Company business and professional men for a donation of $1,000 each to help defray the expenses of building the dike; that the town attorney secure a right-of-way through the properties leading to said project; that the state tax commissioner be contacted for permission to re-allocate from the budget estimate the $1,000 in item 48, "Construction of New Streets, Sidewalks and Sewers," to be applied on the building of the dike. The motion carried with two dissenting votes.

Roland Haddix Named Parsons Police Chief

Council Considers Other Routine

PARSONS — Roland Haddix was named chief of police when the Town Council of Parsons met recently in the council chamber. He will assume his duties Monday.

Robert Barton asked council to consider the condition of the berm at his property opposite the Board of Education garage. Stating that motor vehicles used by the board and the Barrick Ford Sales were cutting ruts in the berm, he asked to have the ruts filled so as to improve the appearance of the street in front of his premises. Councilman Sam Gerasco reported the condition to be bad and that both the Board of Education and Barrick Ford Sales had been asked to refrain from using the berm in extremely wet weather, but they had not complied with the request.

A motion of council on January 12, 1956 instructed the town attorney to advise Barrick Ford Sales to refrain from using the east side of Central Avenue from First Street to the intersection of Donahue Street as the street was not wide enough to handle the traffic in this area. A correction was made to the motion to include no parking of trucks or school buses on the west side of Donahue Street. This motion was read to the council and Barton agreed to have dirt hauled and the ruts filled if he could secure cooperation from the town in getting protection for his services.

A motion was made to prepare plans for building a dike at the Sluce dam site on Blackfoot Pennsylvania's Queen Maple IX, River, and that the town contact the Tenth Maple Queen-elect, her maids of honor, maple princesses, Western Maryland Railway and its escorts. Farmers, the Monongahela Power Company business and professional men for a donation of $1,000 each to help defray the expenses of building the dike; that the town attorney secure a right-of-way through the properties leading to said project; that the state tax commissioner be contacted for permission to re-allocate from the budget estimate the $1,000 in item 48, "Construction of New Streets, Sidewalks and Sewers," to be applied on the building of the dike. The motion carried with two dissenting votes.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said he will take the members of the Allegany County Board of Education to the new school about 2:30 p. m. today for an inspection.

The superintendent hopes to be able to use the new building for at least the final two months of the school year.

Sewer Pipe To Be Loaded

Test loading of a 48-inch interceptor sewer in the old C & O Canal at the foot of Howard Street is to begin today by the Corps of Engineers, provided Wills Creek stays at its present level.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, said an inspection of the section to be test loaded showed the concrete pipe installed over 20 years ago is in excellent condition and that no evidence of cracks or excessive scour were observed.

As part of the first inspection, City Engineering Department crews took elevations at several points along the line, and made careful measurements of the vertical and horizontal measurements.

After the 24 foot fill is placed, the pipe will be checked for settlement as a whole and for deflection resulting from the load.

Results of the final inspection will determine whether or not the pipe will safely carry the additional fill which is to be placed on it, Mr. Nuzum said.

The test loading will be done by the E. J. Albrecht Company.

Local 26 To Meet On Contract Sunday

Negotiators of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company are meeting on a day-to-day basis and are making progress on contract revision, according to James Stein, president of the local.

He said the local plans to hold a special membership meeting on Sunday, and expects to have the contract provisions boiled down by that time to the point where members will be able to make a decision.

The agreement will cover some 1,750 hourly-paid workers of the local tire plant. Wages are not an issue.

Tournaments Open At Hagerstown And Keyser Tonight

Valley And Williamsport Meet In Hub City Opener

Northern, Allegany On Card; Region 4 Contests At Keyser

Eyes of the scholastic basketball fans in the tri-state area will be focused on a pair of tournaments which get under way today at South Hagerstown High School and Potomac State College, Keyser.

Maryland's District No. 1 tournament for Class A, B and C schools opens in the Hub City tonight at 6 o'clock. Three games will be played tonight and a like number on Saturday. The Class A and C winners qualify for the state tournament at College Park next week while the B winner must engage in another game with the victor in District Three to determine which school shall compete at the University of Maryland.

Keyser will be the scene of the West Virginia Region Four Class B tournament today and Saturday. The schools scheduled to battle it out for a berth in one of the state's four area games next week are Capon Bridge, West Virginia School for the Deaf, Petersburg and Hedgesville.

Valley vs. Williamsport Two Class B games are on today's program at Hagerstown. In the opener at 6 p.m., Valley High's Black Knights of Lonaconing, co-champions of the W.M.I. League and victors in 17 of 22 games will do battle with Williamsport High School of Washington County (10-9), coached by Roscoe Spielman.

Valley won the Class B crown in Allegany county by whipping Mt. Savage in a "rubber" game after tying Allegany High School for W.M.I. League honors at 8-2. John Solic and Glen Shaffer, of State College Park, will officiate in the game between the Black Knights and Billporters, Valley High, coached by John Meyers, won county, district and state Class B titles last season.

Northern Tests Thurmont At 7:30 p.m. today Coach Lihburn Brown's Northern High School Huskies of Garrett County, will look horns with Thurmont of Frederick county, in the other Class B semi-final contest. Northern, which lost its first three games of the season, staged a remarkable comeback and a wound up the season with a 12-9 record. In the final game Northern dropped an overtime thriller to Valley in Lonaconing by the score of 72-68. The Huskies won the Garrett county crown by sweeping a two-game series from Southern High of Oakland, 68-63 and 77-74. Thurmont, coached by Carl Englar, enters the tourney with a 15-3 record. The Lightner Brothers, Earl and Bill, of Hagerstown, will officiate.

South Hagerstown's Rebels, coached by Paul Flick, and Gene Shaw's Allegany High School Campers will collide in the Class A semi-final in the third game on tonight's program at 9 o'clock. Rebels 1st Year Good The Rebels annexed the Washington County crown by beating Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs in a playoff game, 63-48, after the teams had split even during the regular season. This is South Hagerstown's first year basketball and the team turned in a commendable 13-8 record. The Rebels split even with Frederick and Martinsburg, won a pair from Mt. Savage which held Valley and Allegany on even terms, and took two out of three from North Hagerstown.

Allegany looked like the hottest team in the area in December and January when it won 13 of 14 contests. Since a 63-59 defeat at the hands of Mt. Savage on February 1 the Campers have played so-so basketball and have lost four of their last seven contests. Their overall record now is 18-5.

The winner of the Allegany-South Hagerstown game will play Frederick High's Cadets, who drew an opening round bye, in the championship game Saturday night at 9 o'clock. Frederick's record is 18-2. Alex Rich and Bill Bossi of Windber, Pa., will officiate in tonight's Class A battle.

Three Games Saturday Saturday's opening game at 6 p.m., features Hancock, of Washington County, coached by Bob Wolford, former Paw Paw High School mentor, and Walkersville, of Frederick County, coached by Bill Talley, for the district Class C championship. Pete Elliott, Cumberland, and Joe Stanislawczyk, Keyser, will be the officials for this game. Walkersville has won 18 of 19 games, its only setback coming at the hands of Middletown, 50-48. Hancock has won 16 out of 19 contests.

The Class B final is at 7:30 p.m., Saturday and the Class A championship contest at 9 o'clock. Bossi and Rich will handle the last night on tomorrow night's program.

Two Games At Keyser Petersburg High School's Vikings (12-10) will play Capon Bridge (13-10) at 7:30 o'clock and Hedgesville (20-2) will oppose the West Virginia School for the Deaf in the Region Four semi-final round at Potomac State College. Officials for the games

Hundley Selected On Coaches' Team

ST. LOUIS, March 7 (AP)—Three big centers, topped by 7-foot Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas, and two high-scoring frontliners were named today to the National Assn. of Basketball Coaches All-America team.

Joining Chamberlain on the NABC's first team were Lennie Rosenbluth, (6-5) North Carolina; Rod Hundley (6-4), West Virginia; Jim Krebs (6-8), Southern Methodist; and Charles Trya (6-8), Louisville.

The team was announced by Eddie Hickey, St. Louis University athletic director and basketball coach who served as chairman of the NABC All-America and district all-stars selection committee.

Capon Bridge, coached by Arno Hott, will be meeting Petersburg for the first time this season. The Vikings of Grant County are coached by William "Honey" Crites. West Virginia School for the Deaf, coached by Malcolm "Mac" Norwood and Hedgesville's Eagles, tutored by Charles Spencer, also will be tangling for the first time.

The championship game is set for Saturday night. The winner at Keyser and the victor in the Region III tourney at Rowlesburg this weekend will meet in an area contest next week.

Tar Heels, Terps Win ACC Games

Rosenbluth Gets 45, Duke Cagers Upset

By KEN ALYTA

RALEIGH, N. C., March 7 (AP)—All-America Lennie Rosenbluth poured in a record 45 points tonight to spark North Carolina's unbeaten Tar Heels, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, to an 81-61 victory over Clemson in the opening round of the Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Tournament.

North Carolina's semi-finals opponent tomorrow night will be the winner of tonight's North Carolina State-Wake Forest game.

Rosenbluth bettered by three points the tourney scoring record set three years ago by Virginia's Buzz Wilkinson as he led the Tar Heels to their 25th victory in a row. He displayed a varied assortment of shots, hitting on hooks, push shots and layups as he bombed the hoops for a record 19 baskets.

Lenny hit on 12 of his 16 first half attempts to stake his team to a 47-30 lead. Even with two men guarding him at times he managed to get the ball up into the basket.

Ed Brinkley and Vince Yockel each had 16 for Clemson, whose starting center Gene Seay played with a football helmet to protect a deep head cut he received in practice several weeks ago.

Bill Murphy's four fouls in the last 49 seconds gave Maryland a 71-68 victory over Virginia, and South Carolina upset Duke 84-81 in earlier games.

National scoring leader Grady Wallace carried South Carolina from behind with five points in the last 26 seconds to engineer the upset of Duke.

Virginia, beaten by Maryland in three earlier meetings this season, shot into an early 20-12 lead, held the Terps 35-all at the half and made a nip-and-tuck struggle of it all the way.

A jump shot by John Nacinick put Maryland ahead to stay 59-58 with 6:07 left but the Cavaliers, spurred on by the crowd of 10,500, which made the underdog its favorite, were dangerous all the way.

Nick Davis' 21 points, 16 by Nacinick and 14 by Jim Halleck supplied the big punch for Maryland. Herb Busch, who hauled in 17 rebounds, had 18 points and Billy Miller, a hustling little guard, 16 for Virginia.

Wallace, the nation's leading major college scorer with a 31 point average before the game, scored 41 points, one short of the tournament record.

Duke was ahead by 14 points three times halfway through the first, period before the Gamecocks battled back into contention.

West Virginia Is 71-51 Victor Over Davidson

Battles Richmond Today In Tourney

By ED YOUNG

RICHMOND, Va., March 7 (AP)—West Virginia thundered off to a 25-point lead in the first eight minutes today and never was extended while opening defense of its Southern Conference Basketball Championship with a 71-51 victory over Davidson.

The victory sent the Mountaineers into tomorrow's conference tournament semi-final round against Richmond, which clouted Furman's fourth-seeded Paladins 90-71 in the first-round opener earlier this afternoon.

First-round games tonight sent second-seeded Washington and Lee against The Citadel and third-ranked Virginia Tech against William and Mary.

Rod Gets Four Points West Virginia easily outclassed Davidson, though All-America Rod Hundley failed to bag a field goal and wound up with a mere four points. Hundley, showing the after-effects of a recent attack of virus, took only six shots and missed them all, but had 11 assists.

Guard Don Vincent took up the scoring slack for the Mounties with 22 points, Big Lloyd Sharrar added 14 and Clarence Kishbaugh had 11. Dave Hollingsworth was Davidson's best scorer with 17 points.

West Virginia, now the winner of 19 consecutive conference games over a two-season span, raced quickly away from the Wildcats almost before the crowd of 3,028 was settled down.

Pile Up 34-9 Lead Using a devastatingly fast break and 60 per cent shooting accuracy, the Mountaineers held a 34-9 lead by 7:46 of action.

Richmond's easy victory over usually high-scoring Furman wasn't much of a surprise, though the Paladins had been seeded a notch ahead of the Spiders.

Led by their fast-moving captain, Warren Mitchell, the Spiders sailed to a 44-32 halftime advantage, beat off a threatening Furman comeback in the second half and won going away. At several stages after intermission the Spiders led by as much as 25 points and Furman never got closer than 13.

Mitchell, with 20 points; Butch Lambotte, with 15; Ray Peschel with 14; Larry Rauppius, with 12; Theryl Willis, with 11 and Curt Adkins with 10 were the Richmond players hitting in double figures.

Jimmy Herring scored 18 points and Bob Gaines 17 for Furman.

Hart And Byars Clash Tonight

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Garnett (Sugar) Hart, Philadelphia welterweight, is a 4-1 choice to stretch his winning streak to 13 tomorrow night when he faces Walt Byars, another eager newcomer from Boston, in a television 10-rounder.

The two unranked 147-pounders will be making their Madison Square Garden debuts. The bout will be broadcast and telecast (NBC, 10 p.m., EST).

Hart, skinny 21-year-old puncher, has earned attention with several TV fights and 12 straight victories. His last seven were by knockouts. His record is 20-1, including 18 kayos. The lone loss was on a one-round knockout by Fred Terry in his ninth fight.

This will be Byars first fight out of New England. Last Dec. 4 he defeated Kid Gavilan, the former welterweight champion. The 25-year-old cabinet maker has an unbeaten streak of 10, marred only by a draw with Wilbur Wilson.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Senate To Act On Zoning Bill For LaVale

Sewage Treatment Plan To Be Moved

The LaVale zoning bill has passed its second reading in the Senate and will be up for final action today or Monday, according to Senator Charles M. See.

The proposal, dropped into the Senate hopper as SB 438, received approval by voice vote in the Senate Wednesday night and is now being printed for its third reading in the same form as introduced.

Sen. See said he will let the first LaVale zoning bill, SB 118, die by putting it in his file. It was decided to draft a new bill after agreement was reached on a plan for an elected zoning board.

Has Elected Board

He anticipated passage of the bill and said it will be sent to the House by early next week.

The new bill sets up the LaVale Zoning District and empowers an elected LaVale Zoning Board to adopt a plan of zoning rules and restrictions for the use of land and buildings in Election District 29.

The bill provides that provisions of the act affecting present LaVale Election District 29 will be carried out by a three-member LaVale Zoning Board, which is to be elected.

The first election would be held June 18, 1957, at the same time as the referendum on the bill is held.

Included is the right of any person aggrieved by any decision of the board to appeal to the Allegany County Circuit Court, and a final appeal to the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Will Move Bill

Senator See said House Bill 314, the Tri-Towns sewage treatment plan, is in his desk and will be moved next week.

He said he expects a report soon on a study by those affected by the bill and will act as soon as the report is received.

The bill authorizes the Upper Potomac River Commission to build and operate facilities for treatment of sewage and industrial wastes, with costs shared by the Tri-Towns and the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

He said the Allegany County merit system bill was introduced as Senate Bill 487.

No action has been taken on Allegany County appointments, he reported, but the Senate Committee on Executive Appointments is expected to meet next week to act on appointments throughout the state.

Refuse To Accept

The Garrett County Delegation and Senator Clifford Friend were still at odds yesterday over auditing Garrett County books.

The Delegation introduced and passed a bill to require that the Garrett County audit be made by a certified public accountant from now on.

Senator Friend amended HB 120 to make it retroactive so he could reopen investigation of an old complaint against the roads department.

The delegates refused to accept the amendment and yesterday Senator Friend came back with a bill specifying that the county roads commission audit be done by a CPA.

"The senator said if we accept that bill, he will recede from his amendment of ours," Del. Harry C. Edwards of Grantsville said, and "we're not going to do it."

Naval Division Inspection Set

Whether Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9, McKaig's Hill, is a top-notch unit will be determined in about three weeks when the local division undergoes an inspection by the National Inspection Board.

Lt. Cmdr. Gordon McCrae, commanding officer of the Naval Training Center here, announces the inspection will be held on Wednesday, March 27.

The inspection party from Reserve Headquarters in Omaha, Neb., will be under the direction of Capt. H. C. Duff, USNR.

Accompanying him will be Cmdr. J. E. Kearney, USNR, Lt. Cmdr. L. L. Roger, USNR, and several enlisted members. In addition, Capt. E. E. Lull, of the Fifth Naval District will be an observer.

This will mark the first inspection of the local unit by a National Board since the organization of the division in 1946.

Vegetable Growers Get Advice For New Season

Experiments conducted within about 100 miles of Cumberland for the last five years by a nationally-recognized plant pathologist have found that Gray Wall in tomatoes is an infectious disease of a virus nature.

These experiments have been undertaken by Dr. John Boyle, professor of plant pathology at Pennsylvania State University, since 1952.

Local Chapter Red Cross Gets Big Kelly Gift

The Kelly Employees' Charity Fund of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company here donated a total of $2,400 to the American Red Cross this year, according to W. M. Petrea, secretary-treasurer of the fund. Of this total amount, $1,848 was earmarked for the 1957 Allegany County Red Cross Fund Campaign.

A gift of $200 was made to the Hungarian Relief Drive, $22 to the Garrett County Red Cross; $88 to Mineral County Chapter; $44 to the Hampshire County Chapter; $154 to the Bedford County Chapter, and $44 to the Somerset County Chapter.

Based On Percentages

The allocations are based upon the percentage of employees of the plant residing in these various areas.

The fund made up by Kelly employees contributions also specified that their county chapter gift be allocated among the several branches which comprise the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter.

Cumberland was allocated 50 per cent, Ellerslie 1 per cent, Flintstone 3 per cent, Oldtown 2 per cent and Cresaptown 2 per cent, making a total of 58 per cent or $1,072 toward the Cumberland area quota.

Credited To Total

Frostburg was allocated 16 per cent or $296; Eckhart 2 per cent or $37; Mt. Savage 3 per cent, Corriganville 2 per cent and Barreille 2 per cent, or a total of 7 per cent or $129 for the Mt. Savage Branch; Ridgeley Branch, 4 per cent or $74; Barton, 2 per cent or $37; Midland 3 per cent or $55; Lonaconing 6 per cent or $111, and Westernport, 2 per cent or $37.

The total of $1,848, according to Red Cross campaign officials, has been credited to the total raised to date, and the local proportion is credited to the Classification Division, of which O. H. Lashley Jr. is chairman.

The Kelly Employees Charity Fund is a labor-management activity designed to eliminate multiple drives within the plant.

Judge Upholds ESB Decisions In Three Cases

All Were Refused Unemployment Pay

Three decisions of the State Employment Security Board—involving refusal to pay unemployment compensation to a retired life insurance salesman, a discharged flood control worker and a telephone company employee whose husband was transferred from Washington to Cumberland—were reaffirmed yesterday by Chief Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One case involved Carl R. Amtower, 203 Arch Street, who retired last year as a life insurance salesman for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company after reaching the age of 65.

He received a pension from the company and Social Security benefits, but was turned down by the Employment Security Board last December 17 when he applied for unemployment compensation.

Restricted Availability

The ESB held Amtower was ineligible for benefits because of restrictions placed on his availability and ability for work. James N. Phillips of Baltimore, an ESB attorney, emphasized that Amtower stated that he would not accept a job paying more than $12,000 a year because he would lose his Social Security benefits.

Phillips asserted that the test of whether a man should be entitled to unemployment compensation is whether he is making a diligent effort to get a job and therefore can be considered a part of the labor market.

A second case involved Donald D. Thompson, 235 Elder Street, who was denied unemployment benefits for eight weeks because he allegedly was fired by the E. J. Albrecht Company for misconduct on the job.

Thompson was not supposed to leave the job during lunch hour but did so, it was charged. The reason for loss of job was given as insubordination or failure to take orders.

The third case concerned Mrs. Charlotte J. Abe, 20 Potomac Street, who obtained a leave of absence from her job with the telephone company in Washington in order to come to Cumberland with her husband, who was transferred here. She applied for unemployment compensation while waiting for a telephone company job here and it was denied.

Phillips and J. Robert Brown, also of Baltimore, were the ESB attorneys at yesterday's hearings. Harold E. Naughton represented Amtower, Edward J. Ryan was attorney for Thompson, and Peter J. Carpentieri represented Mrs. Abe.

Many Art Lovers Visit Exhibit

More than 90 persons who have visited the annual Tri-State Art Exhibit at the Cumberland Free Public Library this week have signed the guest register.

However, it is believed that many other visitors have not signed, indicating that the total number of visitors is well over 100. Each visitor is asked to ballot on his first choice among the 69 exhibits on hand.

Two of the 22 which have been offered for sale already have been sold. The exhibit will continue until March 18 under sponsorship of the Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women.

Circuit Court Grants Divorces To Six

Six divorces have been granted in Allegany County Circuit Court. LaVada E. Smith obtained a divorce from Thomas L. Smith and custody of their three minor children. Josephine Kenney was granted a divorce from Bernard Kenney and custody of their two minor children. Thomas J. Wolford obtained a divorce from Eunice May Wolford and she was granted custody of their infant child.

Mary Ann Keiser was awarded a divorce from Ronald W. Keiser and custody of their infant son. Raymond Sturgis McMahon Jr. won a divorce from Helen Marie McMahon and custody of their three infant children. Elizabeth E. Johnson obtained a divorce from Bruce N. Johnson and custody of their minor child.

Legislators Take Stand On Pensions

Allegany County legislators have taken a position on a local bill designed to correct an annuity deficiency in retirement pensions for Allegany County teachers, according to State Senator Charles M. See.

He said the stand will be made public in a statement which is being prepared.

Senator See declined to reveal the position taken by the Allegany County Delegation and himself after a conference Wednesday night with a committee representing the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association and school officials.

"We think we are right," Sen. See said, adding "there may be those who think we are wrong."

Attending the conference were Miss Mary E. Murray, Mrs. Lillian C. Myers, Homer S. Higgins, Lewyn C. Davis, Joseph H. Pelzer, Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent, and Edward A. Meconi, president of the association.

Del. Lester B. Reed, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, arranged the conference.

Miss Murray reported the maximum cost to the county to provide pensions guaranteed to teachers in 1927 would not exceed $10,000 in any given year.

Local Woman Struck By Car

A local woman who was struck by an automobile while crossing Greene Street last night is reported in "fair" condition at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Attaches said Mrs. Franklin Kremer, about 60, of 724 Fayette Street, suffered possible fractures of an arm and leg in the accident, which occurred about 7:30 p. m. near 8 Greene Street.

City Police said the woman was hit by an auto driven by Gerald Spangler of Ridgeley, who has been charged with reckless driving.

According to Officer E. Wilbur Shank, Spangler had turned off Baltimore Street onto Greene, and said he failed to see the victim until he struck her.

A date for a trial has not been set pending outcome of Mrs. Kremer's injuries. She was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Holy Name Society To Meet Sunday

St. Patrick's Holy Name Society will hold its regular monthly meeting Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in the school social center, according to John Lindner, president.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, will present a past president pin to Francis Werner, retiring president.

Following the meeting, Brother Nichols, FSC, of LaSalle High School, will speak on "Adventures in Archaeology." George Callahan is program chairman.

Film To Be Shown

A technicolor and sound picture, "The Peace Plan from Heaven," will be shown at 7:30 p. m. March 13 in St. Mary's hall, Oldtown Road, sponsored by the St. Mary's Sodality. The general public is invited.

Members of Beth Jacob and B'er Chayim congregations here will join congregations throughout the nation to observe the Purim Feast of Esther on Sunday, March 17.

Rabbi Gabriel Maza, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob congregation, announced last night the celebration will open at the synagogue Saturday evening at 7 o'clock when the Book of Esther will be read.

The children will be provided with noisemakers which will be used during the reading of the book. On Sunday beginning at 11 a. m. a play and general celebration will be held in the vestry by the children of the congregation.

The play will be a parody on the Book of Esther and the children will don masks in various skits and also will sing songs. Members of the Women's League will serve a luncheon to the children following the program.

Sunday evening beginning at 6 o'clock the Youth Group, headed by Jeffrey Getz, will be in charge of a Purim carnival and the evening's activities will include games and festivities.

A number of booths will be in care of the youths. The carnival, based on the holiday theme, will be held in the Vestry.

The B'er Chayim congregation will observe the occasion on Friday, March 15 in the Temple on South Centre Street, when the scroll of Esther will be read at a service scheduled at 8 p. m.

House Approves New Tax For Foreign Trucks

Senate Action On Bill Delayed

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS, March 7.—The House of Delegates today approved taxing out-of-state trucks traveling through Maryland.

The Senate put off action on a similar bill on the excuse that a minor amendment was offered.

It came after a long-winded debate on a type of legislation that would afford motorists a chance to collect damages for all accidents.

The senators voted down two systems, one for compulsory insurance by everybody and another that would combine compulsory insurance and what is known as an unsatisfied judgment fund.

The Senate finally moved up to passage stage a third bill calling for the unsatisfied judgment fund. Motorists with insurance would be charged an extra $1 and those uninsured $8 when they registered their vehicles to go into the fund. Insurance companies also would contribute.

Motorists involved in an accident with somebody without insurance could file claims against the fund.

The plan to collect money from out-of-state trucks would require them to make reports to the comptroller on the amount of miles they travel in Maryland. They would have to pay a "toll" equivalent to the gasoline tax.

Delegates were told it might bring in 1½ million dollars a year toward the construction of highways in Maryland.

Roads Disputes

Representatives of Maryland truckers passed word when the truck tax first was proposed that they had no objection. There reportedly has been some changing of minds although there was no sign of it in the House.

Disagreement with the State Roads Commission cropped up twice during the day in connection with highways.

The oil industry and the commission were at odds before the House Ways and Means Committee. The commission is opposing a bill that would prohibit it from leasing sites for gasoline stations, restaurants and motels along expressways.

Joseph P. Lanigan, lobbyist for Maryland petroleum interests, objected to letting the state go into "the gasoline business."

Amendment Planned

Action was held up until Del. McNeal (D-Balto 3d), sponsor of the free enterprise bill, can offer an amendment that would give the commission more power over erection of private facilities along state roads.

Del. Burkley (D-Cecil) took the floor to complain about a roads commission announcement that it is proceeding with a plan to charge tolls on only part of the proposed Northeastern Expressway. About 16 miles at the northern end of the road going through Cecil County would offer free passage.

Tolls would be charged between Perryville and Baltimore.

Burkley claimed the "checked pattern" was a "departure from the legislative intent" authorizing the expressway as a toll road in 1955.

One phase of a legislative drive which developed in the Legislature this year against salaries of state employees being changed between budgets was enacted by the House today.

Would Need Approval

Recommended changes by the Standard Salary Board would have to be approved and provided for by the governor in a current budget. Any later recommendations would have to wait until the next budget.

House action this afternoon also included enactment of three measures which backers estimate will save the state about one million dollars a year in welfare funds.

One of them makes the state eligible for about $800,000 a year in additional aid under the federal work program. The others provide that, when blind or aged welfare recipients are admitted to State hospitals, they remain on the Welfare Department's rolls instead of being transferred to Health Department registers. This will enable the state to continue collecting about $200,000 a year for them under the established federal welfare program.

Another measure enacted by the Senate would establish a six-month prison sentence and $1,000 maximum fine for anyone who commits fraud in making out someone else's income tax return.

Consultant On Reading Plans Visit

Mrs. Marie Buckley, phonovisual consultant from the Primary Day School in Bethesda, will be in Allegany County Monday and Tuesday, March 18 and 19, for a series of meetings with principals and teachers on reading problems.

Her appearance here has been arranged by the three supervisors of elementary education, Miss Elizabeth Flake, Miss Winifred Greene and Miss Mildred E. Willison.

Review Board Conducts Its First Hearing

The Allegany County Board of Property Review, which held its first hearings yesterday in the auxiliary court room at the Court House, will hear four more cases next week, two on Thursday and two on Friday.

Decisions on the first two cases will not be reached for some time, according to William S. Jenkins, Frostburg, an attorney and one of the board members. Other members are Charles L. Kopp, this city, retired superintendent of Allegany County schools, and William M. George, this city, a civil engineer with the George Construction Company.

Last November 20 the board was sworn into office after having been selected by the four judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

Prevent Speculation

The new system was enacted with the idea it would prevent speculation in land deals as a result of the accelerated highway construction program of the State Road Commission. In effect it "freezes" property involved until the Board of Review conducts a hearing.

The first case was that of Crate Carr, owner of a tract on the north side of the McMillen Highway in the Rawlings section. The SRC offered Carr $260 for necessary land while he wants approximately $1,000.

Presenting the case for the SRC were Herbert Cohen, Baltimore, an attorney for the State Roads Commission, and James McGee, right of way representative.

Hear Second Case

After hearing both parties in the dispute, the board recessed the case until after testimony in a second case was heard. The second case was that of James Harbaugh, who owns about .78 of an acre along the McMillen Highway in the same section.

Jenkins informed both men that the property in question would be viewed later in the day.

In the event the property owners are not satisfied with the award by the Board of Review they can institute proceedings in Circuit Court.

Two Area Bills Are Enacted

Two Western Maryland bills were enacted yesterday by the General Assembly.

The House enacted Senate Bill 353, which allows truckers hauling coal to large users to use mine weights, instead of public scales.

The Senate enacted House Bill 522, providing that judges of the Garrett County Orphans Court be paid $600 a year instead of $8 a day.

Club To Meet

The Married Couples Club of Centre Street Methodist Church will have a covered dish supper this evening in the church recreation hall beginning at 6.

Recruit Says He Was Forced To Accuse DI

2 Local Marines Involved In Trial

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. March 7.—A government witness in the recruit maltreatment trial of a Marine drill instructor said today he was told to sign a statement or go to the brig.

The testimony was offered in the special court-martial of Cpl. William R. Walsh of Lyndhurst, N.J. Walsh is charged with 24 counts of hazing and maltreatment involving 11 members of Recruit Platoon 399.

Pvt. Edmund L. Ramie of Watertown, N.Y., told the court he did not volunteer charges against Walsh but that when he did give a statement the word "hit" appeared in the written version.

Ramie said he never claimed to have been hit, "only tapped."

Defense attorney Fred W. Shields of Mount Vernon, Pa., a civilian, then asked, "Did Capt. Morgan tell you it was the truth and to sign it or go to the brig?"

"Yes, sir," Ramie replied.

The captain to whom Shields referred is Capt. Pat Morgan of Austin, Tex.

Cumberland Testifies

The day's first witness for the prosecution was Pvt. Dennis M. Boyd, 19, of Cumberland, Md., who told the court he was standing in a chow line talking to another recruit when Walsh spotted him and told him to "knock it off." Afterward, Boyd continued, Walsh shoved him and he fell across a hedge.

Pvt. Charles E. Peters, 17, of Warren, Ohio, told the court "Pvt. Boyd and I were talking and I guess Walsh was looking out the window." He added that he pushed us and we landed over a hedge."

Peters testified he did not think he had been hurt or mistreated and "I didn't want to make a statement. I had to go to the investigation."

(Another Cumberland recruit, Pvt. Donald Atkinson, 23, also has charged that he was struck by Cpl. Walsh.)

Earlier Shields argued that Walsh could not receive a fair trial on this huge Marine Corps recruit depot because of remarks made by Brig. Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., head of the Recruit Training Command. Shields asserted Greene had exercised "command influence" in violation of the uniform code of military justice.

Porter Struck Twice

Just before Ramie appeared on the stand, Pvt. David Lee Porter, 18, of Hartford, Vt., was a witness. Porter is the man who started the investigation of Platoon 399. His father, Nelson R. Porter, claimed publicly he had a letter from his son complaining he had been hit on the head with an iron bar.

Porter told the court he had been struck twice by Walsh while kneeling before a locker and that he suffered a minor scalp abrasion. The lanky, brown-haired Vermont recruit admitted, however, under cross examination that he had told conflicting stories on his injury.
